Ray-Day,

I hardly know where to begin. I really hate to leave you. You and I have had so much fun shopping together. It has really been a blast.

When we are older we will look back on this year and remember all the wonderful times. The card games a "private" parties during school study and after hours, those long Monday mornings, the time in town with Dottie, the time to the beach away, and our wild dance plans. It really makes me sad to think that they all flew by so fast. It seems that it should take a year instead of just a quarter to do all that we did. I hope that my memory will serve me as it should and those wonderful moments and hours will always be within my grasp.

Ray, I will never forget Lavinia, Lavin, (Liz, Carolyn, Sherry) or any of the others in song and line, but when I think of my first year at U. you will always stand out in my mind, because you are the best roommate, friend, and confidant I have found up here.

I am almost in tears at the thought of leaving all this, but we will all see each other in three months. That will really be a happy day for me.

Best of luck to you and Beanie. I know that at times the whole situation looks hopeless, but for a person as sweet as you, it is bound to work out either on earth.

For now, I will say it - long for the summer and may God bless you. Love,

Dedicated to a noted writer, Englis Fletcher Hall, the newest dormitory for women, stands seven stories tall at the western edge of the campus.

Changing

Proud yet humble East Carolina College stands against the sky. In the horizon, changing skylines mark her role in the cultural, intellectual, and sociological revolution of the era. With each change, she meets the demands of a new day and the needs of a nobler man. Feverishly new buildings are completed. Unceasingly scholars incorporate new ideas into established disciplines. Eagerly students come together to exchange ideas.

Skylines . . .

Steel, concrete, and yellow brick are combined to form the classroom building for the School of Education and the Department of Psychology.

. . . Create New Horizons . . .

Foundations for these new structures are laid in the heritage of the college. From the founding of the college in 1907 until now, this awesome process of physical, intellectual, and sociological expansion challenges the student to join the search of all men for the ultimate meanings of life. These truths are the foundations for understanding—a broad horizon for all men.

Machinery, scaffolding, and constant noise are accepted by the students as a reminder of continuing growth and change.

Learning may be accomplished outside the main classroom.

Within the academic framework,
the student acquires the knowledge that leads to understanding.
In every discipline—
fine arts, science, and mathematics—
new truth is revealed daily.
Professors from Japan, Germany,
Ecuador, and France have joined the native faculty of East Carolina College.

As the faculty and curricula
of the college have grown,
so have the numbers and nationalities
of the students enrolled.
This year new dormitories have been built
to house the students;
new additions to the library
facilitate their study;
more classroom buildings are constructed in which to educate them.

. . . In the World of Academics . . .

. . . And in Student Life on Campus.

Teeming with emotions, abilities,
and desires, students enter the college with great anticipations.

Their mode of dress is conformity;
yet each student is an entity
within the larger entity,
East Carolina College.

A walk in the mall beneath the trees overflowing with violent reds, soft oranges, and yellows
intermingled with the eternal green,
a pep rally preceding a game
in Ficklen Stadium,
a vast array of campaign posters,
a fountain of soap suds,
a dormitory filled with laughter,
a theater alive with My Fair Lady—
all these memories
are cherished by the individual as what he has been and what he is.

Caught between bells, between thoughts, between homes—a student learns to keep pace with the expanding curriculum of the college.

The Student and

Friends and refreshment crown a sunny afternoon.

Some climb aloft for a view of the action below.

Pages filled with data reveal the student's identity.

East Carolina College Are One . . .

Against the changing skyline the student finds his niche. Tall buildings provide a place for learning; a background for relaxation and busy activity; a setting for quiet, serious contemplation and for happy smiles. Facial expressions register reactions as a student learns, meets new friends, and becomes an integral part of East Carolina College.

Music Theory students study the fundamentals of music structure and analyze the works of great composers.

Students huddle wherever there is a convenient spot.

. . . Theater Comprised of Opportunities and Personalities.

In the relaxed atmosphere of the sculpture lab, a student and professor enjoy quiet discussion.

In many scenes,
with rapt expressions,
can be found
the versatile student . . .
conversing in his workshop,
skillfully interpreting his idea of fun, or displaying his diversified talents
with a more serious translation of mood.

Paths lead in all directions.

The popular college union sets the scene for group socializing.

The wonder of college faces every freshman.

There are friends everywhere.

Quiet study and walks on the campus grounds punctuate student life.

Sunny afternoons can be spent in refreshing frolic or serious discussion.

Orientation in Wright Auditorium proves that numerical strength is not sufficient. Freshmen struggle to grow strong in other ways: through developing the patience for enduring long hours in registration line, through realizing the value of making new friends, through becoming acquainted with the administration. Hopefully they approach the threshold of what promises to be a unique experience.

Is there a front to this line?

Freshmen encounter the frustrations of Drop-Add.

Students stagger through the ordeal of unpacking.

Freshmen Meet Challenges of College.

A familiar face in the crowd is a welcome sight.

Friendships grow quickly.

Automation has yet to replace standing in line.

Physically,
mentally,

they grow to become a real part of the Alma Mater.

Freshmen and their parents are honored at President's Tea.

Locating a required text is difficult even in the campus bookstore.

While some stand in line, others find more enjoyable pastimes.

Registration and Book-Buying Complement Every Quarter . . .

Registration can result in an accumulation of problems. Learning that even IBM machines make mistakes, students go through the process of standing in the Drop-Add line for class changes. Then they rush to the bookstore to obtain textbooks and watch the dollars add up.

Machines unbalance our bankbooks.

. . . and Classroom Rituals Are Reassumed.

Students believe that at last they are ready for class. The first few days are a combination of dismay and anticipation, sometimes interrupted by sheer excitement. Eventually life becomes routine, and classes assume their proper perspective.

Unexpected excitement reaches the campus when Flanagan Building begins to smolder.

First lectures are always hard to follow.

Classes Require Adequate and Concentrated Study . . .

Notetaking requires a quick pen.

Classes predominate the lives of students. East Carolina offers them courses in many fields and provides essentials of a basic liberal arts education. Students soon learn that class is much easier if they have spent time in preparation. Notetaking is also necessary to obtain the maximum return from hours spent in lectures.

Will this hour never end?

Students pause to evaluate each other's work.

There is a right way, and then there is my way.

... for Desired Product.

Preparation for classes is channeled through various resource facilities. The library is crowded with students looking for that quiet place to study. In art, the opinions and criticisms of fellow students are helpful. Foreign language students are aided in their studies by a well-equipped laboratory. Wherever and however students study, college requires much work to obtain the desired proficiency in chosen areas of study.

Four years of hard work have led to this moment.

Class of '64 Graduates 910.

A reflection of the past is held by each graduate.

Efforts are rewarded as that final day approaches. Students adorn themselves with the dignity of caps and gowns and feel the pomp of the music to which they march. Parents and friends watch them take their places as candidates for degrees of East Carolina College.

Parents and friends assist in dressing graduates.

President Jenkins congratulates the graduates on their achievement.

Graduates hear President Leo W. Jenkins commend them and wish them well. The address of Dr. Gordon Knight, Duke University Chancellor, inspires the class. Graduates feel joy and sadness intermingled. They have reached the ultimate goal—graduation.

Skylines towering above Ficklin Stadium symbolize for all present the new and increasing need of the world and an urgency to meet these demands.

Chief Marshal Gigi Guice leads the seniors as they begin their walk to be recognized as graduates.

Dignity and pride mark the faces of these seniors.

Fine Arts Series Brings Top Artists

Grant Johannesen displays the technique of a true artist in his piano concert.

Before each program of entertainment, all paths seem to lead to the Central Ticket Office.

Daring leaps characterize the routines of the Raduga Dancers.

Striving to enhance the cultural development of East Carolina students, the Student Government Association contracted many top artists to appear here as a part of the Fine Arts Division of the Entertainment Series. The Raduga Dancers, topnotch Russian ballet and folk dance ensemble, captivated students with a colorful program of song, dance, and music. Both classical ballet and exotic dances gave the theatergoers a view of the rich and varied dance culture of Russia. Metropolitan Opera soprano Teresa Stratas, after having been forced to postpone her engagement here because of illness, was well-received in her concert rescheduled in January. One of the most outstanding musical organizations of America, the Paganini Quartet, displayed remarkable finesse in playing stringed instruments.

Team skill and poise distinguish the artistic ability of the Paganini Quartet.

Lovely Teresa Stratas renders an impressive variety of operatic numbers.

France's contribution to Fine Arts Series was the Paris Chamber Orchestra, the newest addition to the French roster. The young and brilliant players won many prizes in top European competitions, and they were given widespread acclaim by the press. They delighted students with a remarkably precise performance. Jack Glatzer appeared in concert before a good crowd in Austin Auditorium. American pianist Grant Johannesen's program, mastered by a pair of unusually flexible hands, provided an evening of enriching entertainment. Variety and superb performances were the keynotes to the varied cultural programs of the Entertainment Series.

The Paris Chamber Orchestra, composed of fifteen Parisians, executes a program of excellence.

Lectures and Films Relate Views of Arthur Schlesinger pauses during his lecture here in February.

Well-known lecturers were sponsored here by the Student-Faculty Lecture Committee. Speaking to a large audience, famed columnist Drew Pearson compared the foreign and domestic policies of the United States with those of Russia. Arthur Schlesinger, historian, author, and lecturer, gave his views of political and social problems to students, faculty members, and Greenville residents. James J. Kilpatrick, distinguished editor of the Richmond News Leader, and Mark Etheridge debated the issue of civil rights. In April, Nobel Peace Prize Winner and chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission Glenn Seaborg lectured here. Other lectures and lecture-films were presented, and students were made aware of the major problems facing them as this future citizenry of this nation.

The distinguished commentator, Drew Pearson speaks in the gymnasium.

Informal question-answer sessions follow most lectures.

Current Problems.

President Jenkins and Drew Pearson exchange greetings before Mr. Pearson's lecture.

The military aspect is one of the areas covered in Robert Cohen's film "Inside Castro's Cuba."

Threading the film projector is tedious work.

Austin Auditorium serves as a makeshift theater for showing a variety of films, sponsored by the Inter-Religious Council and other groups. Those who attend gain an insight into such topics as foreign countries, science, history, and literature. Becoming acquainted with the customs of people abroad and developing an appreciation for mankind's achievements contribute to the total growth of the students.

Musical and Artistic Exhibitions Evidence Talent.

Recitals and exhibitions enable the students to continue to develop culturally. Music majors and members of the faculty of the School of Music share their talents with the student body in a number of recitals throughout the year. Concerts by the band and symphony orchestra as well as other musical groups on campus are well received.

Exhibitions of the work of both students and instructors are presented by the School of Art. These help to orient the students in the beauty and meaning of art.

The Christmas season is depicted in this bulletin board scene at the College Union.

Students in the School of Art arrange paintings for a sale.

Students and faculty members gather for the annual Christmas Assembly before leaving for the holidays.

Window after window, floor upon floor, Fletcher reaches toward the sky.

East Carolina's new seven-story dormitory for women was dedicated November 8, 1964, to North Carolina author, Inglis Fletcher. Her writing a number of books about eastern North Carolina and her interest in this area prompted the decision to name the dormitory in her honor. The dedication ceremony and unveiling of Mrs. Fletcher's portrait were followed by a tea for those attending.

Fletcher Hall brought a number of "firsts" to the college. It was the tallest building both on the campus and in the city of Greenville. Elevators were installed for the first time in a dormitory here. The entire student body, especially the residents of the new dormitory, took great pride in claiming the lovely structure as a part of the campus. Fletcher Hall can enjoy the distinction of being "the most" for only a short while, however; for a ten-story dormitory to be built beside it is anticipated for the near future.

Students Anticipate Expansion of College Union.

Whenever students want refreshments, conversation, entertainment, or relaxation, the most popular place on campus is the Student Union. It is the site of unending activity, and around it, all the campus social life seems to revolve. Located in Wright Building, it can easily be spotted by the crowds of students standing outside and streaming in and out its doors. Facilities have become inadequate, however, with the expanding of the student body; and the area of the Student Union has been enlarged. Recreation facilities are moved temporarily to Wright Lobby as workmen tackle the task of renovation and construction.

Students stand shoulder-to-shoulder for service at the soda fountain.

Dismantled College Union will soon take on a new appearance.

Wright Lobby provides temporary quarters for recreation facilities.

The College Union's ping pong provides a recreation area for students.

So long as the doors of the College Union are open, no one needs to worry about how to spend an idle hour. At ping-pong tables the popping of the balls against the paddles is a familiar sound. A number of tables are provided for card games of which bridge is most popular. Frequent bridge tournaments are a chance for the card demons to match their wits. Bingo parties give the students an opportunity to get away from their work and enjoy being with friends. For those who want simply to relax, color television is always available.

and Refreshment.

Recent dance fads can be observed at the College Union parties.

Parties at the College Union are well attended. Moods of the various holidays are depicted in the activities as students decorate for the holiday seasons and enjoy the company of fellow students. Music for week-end dances is provided by nearby bands and college combos. Summer school students welcome the annual watermelon slicing as they suffer in the summer's heat. Fun and refreshment for every one is the magnet which attracts students to the socials at the Student Union.

A watermelon slicing helps summer school students to beat the heat.

Interest in the national and state election year was evidenced in activities of the student body. Many students attended state rallies, worked at the local headquarters of their candidates, and contributed to the campaign funds. Those eligible to vote did so, and those not eligible encouraged others to support the candidates of their choice.

On the local scene, students campaigned ardently for the election of Student Government officers. Posters, banners, and brochures decked trees, bulletin boards, and any other convenient spot as candidates tried to win votes in their favor. Office-seekers learned the importance of effective campaigning, and their supporters were made aware of the citizen's role in government.

Elections Create Enthusiasm.

Players, Coaches, Fans Share Tangerine Bowl Victory.

ch Stasovich displays a big smile over the victory at the Tangerine Bowl.

President Jenkins and the editor of the East Carolinian, reflect upon the Pirates' triumph in the Tangerine Bowl.

Climaxing the athletic achievement for the year was the invitation to play in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida. The mighty football team of East Carolina played the University of Massachusetts and came out victorious with a 14-13 score. Much activity and enthusiasm revolved around the Pirates' participation in the Bowl game. A special train chartered for transportation to and from the game enabled many students to share the glory of their team's victory. In Orlando, fans sold souvenirs and pennants in the promotion of school spirit and support of the team. Students who could not attend the game heard it via radio; and many of them formed a cheering squad to meet the elated players, coaches, and fans upon their return to the Greenville airport and train station. All were aware that this victory was but another step forward in the college's march of progress.

The New Journeymen display their talents in their first open-air concert.

Abundant light entertainment gave students a chance to enjoy in person the stars they had heard on tape. The Four Lads appeared during Summer School and rendered a fabulous performance of music and humor. As a close to Freshman Orientation, the New Journeymen presented a program of folksinging. The Four Freshmen opened the 1964-65 Popular Entertainment Series with an evening of modern music before a very responsive audience.

Feature Variety of Talented Performers.

Homecoming brought Ray Charles to the campus. The popular singer, who worked his way to the top against numerous odds, and his orchestra appeared in a packed Wright Auditorium and thrilled students with an evening of jazz. A standing ovation at the completion of his program marked him as one of the best received entertainers to appear here. The famous duo piano pair, Ferrante and Teicher, performed in February in Memorial Gymnasium. Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians, Josh White, and the Serendipity Singers came later in the school year and rounded out a quite successful and delightful run of light entertainment.

The College Hill brigade makes a charge.

Wintertime transformed the campus into a lovely winter wonderland. Falling snow covered the ground with a blanket of white and provided an unusual background for social activity. Students took every opportunity to enjoy their new environment. Dressed in Eskimo-style, they delighted in friendly snowballing, molding the snow into statues, and taking quiet walks. Fun, of course, was often interrupted by an unwelcome fall on the icy sidewalks but was quickly resumed without a thought of the mishap. Rushing to classes in the snow was a unique experience as students struggled to maintain a sure footing and stay out of the paths of others. In every activity, the atmosphere seemed to be that of sheer excitement.

Snow Provides Unique Setting for Social Activity.

Holidays Send Students in Many Directions.

Holidays provide an opportunity to get away from the bustle of college, to relax, and to enjoy favorite pastimes. Days in advance students prepare for the holiday seasons. They adopt the life of the lazy and put their feet in the air. Summer-time leads them to nearby beaches, jobs, or mountain retreats. They rejoin the outside world and leave behind a deserted campus awaiting their return.

S.G.A. Form

Student Government Association serves as the co-ordinator between student body, faculty, and administration. Through S.G.A., students handle their budget, rules, and business matters. Offices are filled by campus elections which leave the running of the government to the student body. Divided into three parts, the Student Government resembles the federal system.

This year a new constitution gave the senate a speaker whose new position lightens the load of the president. Foremost among the duties of the S.G.A. and its Budget Committee are the financial appropriations. This year's budget totaled over $165,000.

Performers highlight every school year, and the Entertainment Committees worked hard to insure that this year would be no exception. Ray Charles headlined the Homecoming celebration. Free movies on week-ends and foreign films once a month kept the students entertained during the year. From the Raduga Dancers to the Journeymen, the Fine Arts and Popular Entertainment Series offered something to suit everyone's taste. Drew Pearson and "Inside Castro's Cuba" headed the Lecture Series.

Summer School Student Government

During the summer sessions an entire new set of officers and representatives are elected to handle student business and affairs. Acting with the comparable functions and powers of the regular term body, the Summer School S.G.A. carries on similar governmental activities on a smaller scale.

Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Branches.

Headed by a slate of five executive officers, elected by and from the entire student body, the executive branch of the Student Government Association acts as the nucleus of the organization. Along with the President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer and Historian, the Presidents of the four classes serve in this branch.

The executive branch enforces laws and rules enacted by the Student Legislature. This body also represents the students of East Carolina College in dealings with students and administrations of other schools.

Staff Secretary
Margaret Stephens

For the first year the student government has the services of a full-time secretary. Mrs. Margaret Stephens acts as a co-ordinator between the government and students when the officers are not there. Working closely with the secretary and treasurer of the S.G.A., Mrs. Stephens handles all correspondence and files maintenance. The general functioning of the office falls under her jurisdiction. She handles the distribution of identification and activity cards and gives assistance in the Central Ticket Office. The efficiency of the Student Government Office is aided greatly by the addition of this position.

Staff Photographer
Joe Brannon

All photography for the Student Government Association, the four student publications, and the East Carolina Playhouse is done by the college's first full-time, professional photographer, Joe Brannon.

Mr. Brannon is charged with taking, developing, and distributing practically all photography used for public relations. He is a member of the Professional Photographers of North Carolina and has worked with Photo Arts Studio in Greenville.

Legislative Branch

Lawmaking in the Student Government Association rests in the hands of the Student Legislature. Four senators from each class along with day student and dormitory representatives compose this branch.

Meeting weekly, the legislature makes rules and regulations applicable to the college student body. Aside from acting as a lawmaking organization, this body is in charge of making all monetary appropriations to extracurricular student activities. The legislature also governs all student elections and elects members of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils.

The Judiciary prepares for its next case.

Men's Judiciary

In matters concerning disciplinary problems among male students, the Men's Judicial Council holds ruling priority if the particular case is not under jurisdiction of the Inter-Dormitory Council or if it does not involve a possibility of suspension or expulsion.

The Men's Judiciary has appellate jurisdiction in all appeals from the Inter-Dormitory Judicial Council. A student who is dissatisfied with the decision of the body may apply to the Appeals Board.

Seated: Tom Mangum, Ron Dowdy, and Steve Sniteman. Standing: Monroe Mustian, Sam Wornom, Frank Welty, and Barry Blick.

Women's Judiciary

Dealing with disciplinary cases of women students, the Women's Judicial Council receives any problem concerning a code whose infraction is not handled by the Women's House Councils or that may not involve suspension or expulsion. Appeals from the Women's Honor Council are also reviewed by this body. Any decision of the Women's Judicial Council may be taken before the Appeals Board.

Chairman, Rose Gooch; secretary, Francis Gutyar; and chaplain, Bonnie Ward serve as officers.

Attorney General Eddie Barnes and staff: Duncan Sinclair, Dave Lord, and Rann Carpenter.

Seated: Bill Clark, Berk Stephens, Neil Linker, and Ted Day. Standing: Mitch Stroud, Sam Keel, and Jerry Ainsfield.

Men's Honor Council

In all cases involving falsifying of records or classroom decorum, infractions of the Honor Code, and possible suspension or expulsion of students, the Men's Honor Council has jurisdiction.

The Men's Honor Council, acting only when seven members are present, reviews the cases referred to it by the faculty, staff, or any member of the student body or administration. If the student is dissatisfied with his sentence, he may appeal his case to the Appeals Board.

Chairman Berk Stephens leads discussion of case being considered.

Women's Honor Council

The Women's Honor Council is composed of seven members and an alternate. Of these seven, four are juniors; and three are seniors. This council has jurisdiction over all violations of the Honor Code by women students and over any cases which are serious enough to warrant suspension or expulsion of women students.

Chairman Carole White works with her secretary Lesley Kent.

Ann Horne is Attorney-General.

Members of the Honor Council have mixed opinions.

Seated: Eddie Greene. Standing: Dr. Tora Larsen, Bill Deal, Bryan Bennett, Celia Orr, and Dr. James Batten. Absent: Dr. Robert Williams.

Appeals Board Is Highest Court.

*Chairman
Eddie Greene*

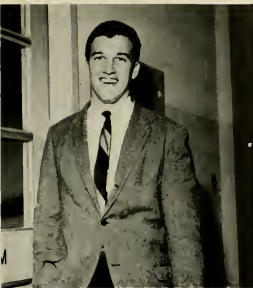

East Carolina Appeals Board is composed of three faculty members appointed by the president of the college and of four students, one of whom is the vice-president of the Student Government. The remaining three students are nominated by the Executive Council of the SGA and are approved by the Student Legislature.

The Appeals Board accepts all appeals from the Judiciaries and Honor Councils if the appeals are based on the following reasons:

- 1) The decision violates and overrides college policy or regulation.
- 2) The decision was based on a policy or regulation which did not apply.
- 3) Evidence not available at the time of decision, but now available, would affect the decision itself.
- 4) The case was initiated or conducted according to improper procedure.
- 5) The decision embodies an inappropriate penalty.
- 6) The decision was contrary to the weight of the weight of evidence.

If the appeal is heard by the board, the decision is either upheld; or the case is retried and a new decision is rendered. The Appeals Board was organized this year and is the highest court in the College Judicial Branch.

Inter-Dormitory Council

IDC PRESIDENT
Jerry Tolley

IDC Executive Council Seated: Henry Taylor, Jerry Tolley, and John Coon. Standing: Charlie Harrell, Jim Hammond and Dinky Mills.

The IDC Council meets every two weeks as a representative body to discussing the problems of the men who live on College Hill Drive.

Representing the 1540 occupants who reside in the three men's dormitories, the IDC installs its officers and members during fall quarter. IDC officers are elected by the men of the dormitories, and a member is elected as an officer, and the remainder of the court is elected from the members of the IDC. The court has jurisdiction over all rules governing conduct in the dormitories and increases involving dormitory property. The IDC works for the betterment of the male students and provides social activities several times a year.

Seated: Walt Rouse, Jim Hammond, and Bob LeCour.
Standing: Charlie Harrell, Brad Price, and Bill Parrish.

Seated: Sandie Waddill, Mrs. Antoinette Jenkins, Carol Joyner, Mrs. Mary Sorenson, Bobbie Eason, and Pam Hall. Standing: Dr. James Tucker, Dr. Robert Holt, Dr. Frank Adams, Mr. Rudolf Alexander, Mr. Bob Myers, Dr. Lee Jenkins, Jim Mahan, Tom Moe, Robert Duncan, Henry Wallace, and Larry Brown.

Publications Board

To oversee the work of the four student publications on campus is the primary function of the Publications Board. The powers delegated to this group include letting contracts and selecting editors for the BUCCANEER, THE EAST CAROLINIAN, THE KEY and the REBEL. Composing the publications Board are administrative officials, faculty publications advisers, student editors and business managers, and three members-at-large selected by the Student Legislature.

The Key Guides Student Life.

Co-Editors
Sandie Waddill and Carol Joyner

Designed as the only SGA publication to be entirely informative, the Key is used primarily as a guide for incoming freshmen. A comprehensive reference, the Key explains all campus organizations and activities. The editor of the annual publication is chosen each year during winter quarter.

On the walls inside a four-room labyrinth which comprises the Rebel office, are bits and pieces of the magazine's history including a certificate from the Associated Collegiate Press, honoring the Rebel with an All-American rating. In their files is a letter of congratulations from Karl Shapiro. Behind the desks are a group of students haggling over minor grammatical points.

The room, the history, the students are all part of the college's literary magazine. Published quarterly, the Rebel includes selections of prose and poetry from students and faculty, book reviews, excerpts, and interviews with outstanding writers and artists. Funds for the publication are provided by the Student Government Association; the editor is selected by the Publications Board.

Fostering an interest in creative writing among students, the Rebel affords an opportunity to develop literary talents. A visitor once remarked that he thought the reason students did not write better, if they wrote at all, was that they were too busy working for a degree, instead of getting an education.

Interest in publications and in capturing the year by year history of the college draws many students to the BUCCANEER office. At the start of the quarter, all staff members had separate jobs to perform; but by the time deadline had rushed upon them, they had done a little of everything. The finished product is not the individual efforts of four or five but the combined work of all members. At first the deadline seemed so far away, and they planned to start work that first weekend. Once they got started, they throw themselves into the work; and with the help of other staff members and a few friends drafted from the dormitory, they met the first of many crises.

Layout was a problem for those who were doing it for the first time. There were many rules they had to learn about preparation of copy; but with writers found with the help of the advisor, they mold ideas into smooth phrases. Section heads were busy seeing that each page was filled, and they glowed with pride and relief as their assigned page numbers were marked off the board one by one. The campus photographer was kept busy filling last minute orders, and there was always one needed picture that could not be located in the rush.

Once the pictures and copy were fitted on each layout page, there came the job of writing headlines for the pages and cutlines for the pictures. Many little things took up the time schedule. Sometimes ideas would not come, or the typewriters were all busy. The staff waited for pictures to be made, and inevitably someone did not keep his appointment. Finally each frustration was surmounted and each deadline met. At last all the material was in. The first proofs were returned and corrected. Section by section, the book was sent back for final approval of the editor and returned to the printer for publication.

Photos must be cropped for emphasis.

"Get those headlines written—don't forget to take the copy to the printers—We have got exactly two minutes to get going, so let's move!" This series of exclamations is just a sample of the conversation before deadline in the East Carolinian office.

The staff published two papers a week this year. It attempted to make the East Carolinian a mouth-piece for student views and opinions. A liberal editorial policy was adopted so that everyone, rather than a select group, might have the opportunity to use his newspaper in the best way he saw fit. The staff urged the participation of all and tried to make the East Carolinian a true representation of the students and faculty on the campus.

At times the staff thought it would never make those Tuesday and Sunday night deadlines. Sometimes members found themselves frustrated and depressed. They kept pushing against pressures, and somehow they always felt an inner pride on Tuesday and Friday afternoons when everyone reached for the latest edition of the paper. An appreciative campus made all their journalistic efforts more than worthwhile.

The staff hopes that the college newspapers have contributed something to the students at East Carolina. Staff members have received tremendous benefit and satisfaction from the paper and hope others have also.

POTLIGHT

Achievement has earned for certain individuals a place in the spotlight. Distinction in many areas—beauty, scholarship, athletics, and pedagogy—is noted in the following section.

Individual students and faculty members have contributed much to East Carolina College. The Spotlight falls on those whose achievements have come through inspiration, talent, and concentrated effort.

Buccaneer Queen 1965

Chosen from a group of thirty campus beauties and sponsored by Kappa Alpha, Miss Celia Orr was selected to reign as the 1965 Buccaneer Queen. Celia's poise, beauty, and personality won for her the choice of a panel of four judges at a tea at the home of Dr. Leo Jenkins.

A junior from Falls Church, Virginia, Celia is a member of Chi Omega sorority and secretary of the Student Government. Her major is psychology.

FIRST RUNNER-UP

Ida Campen, sponsored by North Fletcher Dormitory, placed first runner-up to the Buccaneer Queen. A transfer from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, Ida is a junior, majoring in business education. She is a sister in Chi Omega sorority. Edenton is her hometown.

SECOND RUNNER-UP

Dona Wheless, sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, placed second in the Buccaneer Queen judging. Dona, a freshman primary education major, comes from Louisburg.

Homecoming Queen

Linda Daniels, sponsored by Theta Chi fraternity, won the vote of the student body to become the reigning Homecoming Queen. A senior majoring in elementary education, Linda also holds the title of White Ball Queen 1964. Linda's hometown is Durham.

Miss Greenville

Sponsored by the local Jaycees, the Miss Greenville Pageant is judged on beauty, talent, poise, and personality. Possessing these qualities, Miss Fay Spencer represented Greenville at the Miss North Carolina Pageant in Raleigh. Fay was sponsored in the Miss Greenville Pageant by Sigma Sigma Sigma. She is a senior, primary education major from Columbia, N.C.

Inter-Dormitory Queen

Elected by popular vote of the men in Jones, Aycock, and Scott Dormitories, Miss Sue Brinn now holds the title of Inter-Dormitory Queen. A junior at East Carolina, Sue comes from Bath and is majoring in grammar education.

Summer School Queen

As a freshman at East Carolina College, Dona was chosen Summer School Queen by vote of the summer school student body. Cotten Hall was her sponsor.

Military Queen

A senior from Coates, Miss Judy Elliott was elected by the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corp as Military Ball Queen. Judy, a social studies major, was sponsored by the Angel Flight.

Interfraternity Queen

Pat Robertson, sponsored by Chi Omega, was chosen Inter-Fraternity Queen by the Greek men on campus. A resident of Wilmington, Pat is now a junior at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

GIGI GUICE

Chosen chief by vote of the marshals, Gigi is a senior from Greenville. She is a Pirate cheerleader, president of Alpha Delta Pi, and Student Government productions chairman. Gigi majors in political science.

College Marshals

Elected by the student body in the spring elections, sixteen college marshals serve as the official hostesses of the College. Each girl must have and maintain an honor roll average and clear student government record to be eligible. Beginning their duties at graduation exercises, they continue for one year. As hostesses, the marshals are seen smiling and helping at all college sponsored activities.

Chief marshal is chosen by the marshals to direct their activities along with the guidance of Miss Cynthia Mendenhall, College Union director. Gigi Guice was honored as the 1965 Chief marshal.

JEAN ALLEN

From Farmville, Jean is majoring in English. Alpha Phi sorority, Women's Honor Council, and the Buccaneer are among her campus interests. Jean is a student writer for the News Bureau and will edit the 1965 Key.

CAROL JOYNER

Co-editor of the 1964 Key, Carol is from Rocky Mount. This primary education major is a sister in Alpha Phi and a member of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Carol's activities include Student Government work.

Participating in the June commencement activities, the marshals listen attentively to the graduation address.

LYNDA HUNNING

Presidencies of Kappa Delta sorority and of Women Day Students demands much of Lynda's time. Lynda is a senior in grammar education. Among her honors are Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and North Carolina College Queen.

GAYLE HUNNING

Gayle a grammar education major, is from Greenville. She is a sister in Kappa Delta sorority and Women's Day Student senator.

CAROL COMBS

President of the Student National Education Association, Carol majors in primary education. This Delta Zeta sister is active in Tau Sigma and Kappa Delta Pi. Carol is listed in the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Officiate as College Hostesses.

DEEDEE LEONARD

Nursing major DeeDee is a Student Nurse Association member. A sister in Alpha Delta Pi, DeeDee's interests include the Young Democrats Club.

ANN DANIEL

Ann is a sophomore co-ed from Greenville. A sister in Kappa Delta, she serves as Rush Chairman. Ann's major is biology.

WANDA CALDWELL

Wanda, a fall quarter graduate, teaches in the Farmville school system. At East Carolina, she was active in Sigma Tau Delta and the Marching Pirates.

Circle K members and marshals often share duties at college activities.

JOYCE SIGMON

Interior designing is the goal of Joyce. From Roanoke, Virginia, she is a member of the National Society of Interior Designers. A sister in Sigma Sigma Sigma, Joyce is Feature Editor of the Buccaneer and Women's Honor Council member.

LOUISE WOMBLE

Majoring in English, Louise Womble plans a teaching career. This junior is a Student Government class senator and Women's Honor Council member. An Alpha Delta Pi sister, Louise has served as Cotten Hall president.

KAREN WHITE

Karen is a home economics major. A senior, she is active in Phi Omicron and the North Carolina Home Economics Associations. Delta Zeta sister, Karen is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

CAROLYN WRIGHT

President of Alpha Omicron Pi, Carolyn majors in history. Tau Sigma and Women's Recreation Association are among her interests.

GAYLE MORRIS

This Alpha Phi sister majors in grammar education. Women's Judiciary and the Student Legislature are included in her interests.

MAXINE BROWN

President of Delta Zeta, Maxine Brown is a junior. She majors in primary education and is a member of the Student National Education Association. Maxine serves in the Student Legislature.

Gigi discusses forthcoming marshal assignments with Miss Hungerford, assistant director of College Union activities.

MR. EDGAR R. LOESSIN

Success of East Carolina's Summer Theater is due largely to the efforts of its producer-director, Edgar R. Loessin. Since earning his Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of North Carolina and a Master of Fine Arts Degree from Yale, Mr. Loessin has been involved in many theatrical productions. In New York, he was stage manager for a number of shows and was given a Ford Foundation grant as director-observer to Harold Clurman. Further directing experience was gained through summer stock.

He is on the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Institute of Outdoor Drama and has worked as director or assistant director of such outdoor productions as "Horn in the West," "Unto These Hills," "Thunder on the River," and "Florida Aflame." At East Carolina, he is head of the Department of Speech and Drama. He directed the premiere performance of Carlisle Floyd's "Sojourner and Mollie Sinclair."

DR. JEAN LOWRY

After service with the federal government in the office of price administration and Federal Geological Survey, Dr. Jean Lowry worked with the Virginia Geological Survey. This experience was terminated by her entry into the teaching profession in 1958, when she joined the East Carolina faculty in the Department of Geography. In 1962-63 she was a visiting professor at the University of Concepcion in Chile. A graduate of Pennsylvania State, she received her Ph.D. from Yale in 1951.

Interested in cave exploration, this traveled professor is a member of the National Speleological Society and has prepared over a dozen cave survey reports for them. She is a council member of the Association of American University Professors.

DR. FRANCIS R. ADAMS, JR.

Professor of English Dr. Francis R. Adams, Jr., has been at East Carolina since 1958. Formerly he has taught at Yale; American University in Washington, D.C.; and the University of Maryland, where he received his Masters and doctors degrees. On campus he has served as advisor to the East Carolinian, chairman of the Lecture Committee, and reviewer of the Summer Theater. He is president of the East Carolina Art Society and of the East Carolina Chapter of the Association of American University Professors. A partial listing of his organizational memberships include the College English Association, Modern Language Association, North Carolina Literary and Historical Association, South Atlantic Modern Language Association, American Studies Association, and the National Railway Historical Society. He writes a weekly column for the Daily Reflector in Greenville and is a staff book reviewer for the Richmond Times Dispatch. One of his articles has been published in the American Quarterly.

Awarded for Outstanding

DR. MIRIAM B. MOORE

Dr. Miriam B. Moore taught at two Georgia colleges before she took the position of East Carolina's Director of Home Economics. After receiving her Bachelor of Science and Master of Education Degrees from the University of Georgia, she went to Ohio State University for her Ph.D. She is a member of the North Carolina Council on Food and Nutrition; Omicron Nu and Phi Upsilon Omicron, both honorary societies in Home Economics; Kappa Delta Pi, honorary educational society; Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary society for women teachers; National and North Carolina Council on Family Relations; and both American and North Carolina Home Economics Associations.

DR. JAMES POINDEXTER

Between his Bachelor of Arts and Ph.D. Degrees from the University of North Carolina, Dr. James PoinDEXTER obtained his Masters Degree from Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia. Before coming to East Carolina in 1951, the English professor taught at the University of North Carolina and Mississippi State College for Women. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Nu, the Shakespeare Association, and the Renaissance Society. He has served the college as advisor to the Circle K Club, East Carolinian, and the Buccaneer. He is also on the Lecture Committee. His publications include reviews and columns. Tennis and gardening occupy his time away from college duties.

DR. RALPH NAPP

Regarded as an expert on contemporary Germany, Dr. Ralph Napp has written numerous book reviews for the News and Observer, Raleigh, North Carolina. He has co-authored a human document on war and written an article on German students. A member of Who's Who in American Education in 1965, he is treasurer of the local Association of American University Professors, chairman of the foreign film committee, and sociology representative of the President's Advisory Council.

Duke University awarded him his Master of Education and Doctor of Education Degrees. Before taking the position of associate professor in East Carolina's Sociology Department, Dr. Napp taught at the United States Armed Forces Institute, United States Information Agency, Amerika Haus, and Interpreters College. All are located in Munich, Germany. He belongs to Kappa Delta Pi, American Sociological Association, and Southern Sociological Association.

DR. H. DANIEL STILLWELL

Evidence of Dr. H. Daniel Stillwell's enthusiasm in his field of Geography is the relief globe located in Joyner Library. Dr. Stillwell constructed the model, one of two in existence, singlehandedly. After earning Bachelors and Masters Degrees in forestry from Duke University, he studied geography at Oregon State and received a Ph.D. from Michigan State. The associate professor has taught at East Michigan and the University of Texas. He joined East Carolina's Geography Department in 1962. He has written articles on forestry and Brazil's National Parks.

Enjoying athletics, this instructor likes mountain climbing, gymnastics, and sailing. He is on the athletic committee and has been co-advisor of gymnastics and sailing clubs. An advisor for Gamma Theta Upsilon, the honorary geography fraternity, Dr. Stillwell belongs to the North Carolina Academy of Science, Association of American Geographers, National Council for Geographic Education, National Parks Association, American Forestry Association, and the National Gymnastics Federation. He also serves the college as a member of the President's Advisory Council.

DR. RICHARD C. TODD

Professional basketball and high school coaching were part of the early experiences of Dr. Richard C. Todd. He received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education Degrees in his home state of Pennsylvania; the former at Millersville State College, the latter at Pennsylvania State University. His Ph.D. was awarded by Duke University, where he later taught in the History Department. Before joining the East Carolina faculty in 1950, Dr. Todd taught at High Point College. In keeping with his interest in history, the professor is a member of North Carolina Literary and Historical Society and the Southern Historical Association. He has held many offices in Phi Sigma Pi, honorary professional fraternity, including his present position as National Vice-President. His book, Confederate Finance, won the Mrs. Simon Baruch University Prize in American History in 1954; it was also placed on the Publisher's List of the 100 Best Books published in 1954-55. Listed in Who's Who in the South and Southwest and Who's Who in American Education, the noted scholar is Chairman of the History Honors Program and Chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

MR. JERRY SUTHERLAND

East Carolina's building expansion is planned and supervised for the most part by Mr. Jerry Sutherland, director of maintenance and operations. His responsibility is to oversee 120 workers in the area of school maintenance. His duties in operations consist of supervising present construction projects, meeting with architects concerning future construction plans, and looking ahead to the future needs of the college.

Mr. Sutherland studied Civil Engineering at Texas A&M and graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree. He spent three years at LaSalle University, Chicago, working toward an LLB Degree. Attracted to outdoor life, he likes golf, hunting, and fishing. Memberships include the Kiwanis Club and American Society of Civil Engineers.

Who's Who Among Students in American

RICHARD CARLTON BARNES

Co-captain of the Pirates winning baseball team for two years, Carlton was named to all North State Conference in 1962 and All-State in 1963. He belongs to the Physical Education Majors Club. While serving as secretary of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity and taking an active lead as a member of the board of directors of the Circle K Club, Carlton has maintained an overall scholastic average of 2.86. Ranking fifth in scholastic averages, he plans to enter graduate school or the teaching profession.

RICHARD WHITFIELD BASS

Active in many phases of campus life, Whitty serves as president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Historian-editor of Phi Epsilon Kappa, honorary physical education fraternity, junior class senator, and Sergeant-at-Arms of Kappa Alpha are among the offices which he has held. In athletics this senior is a member of the varsity track and football teams. He has served as captain of the track team as well as received its Most Valuable Award for two consecutive years. He holds the college record in the 440 and 880 yard runs. Membership in Circle K Club, Men's Glee Club, and the State Student Legislature completes his impressive record. An English major and history minor, Richard plans to attend graduate school and hopes to qualify for the 1968 Olympics.

To recognize the outstanding college students on a national basis, Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges was initiated thirty years ago. An annual directory of distinguished students throughout America, the first publication came into print for the school year 1934-35.

Nominating committees consider the student's scholarship, leadership, and co-operation in educational and extracurricular activities, general citizenship, and promise of future usefulness. After the student is officially recommended from the college or university, he must be accepted by the organization of Who's Who. James Tucker, Dean of Student Affairs, released the East Carolina recipients November 27.

BRYAN L. BENNETT

Majoring in history and minoring in speech, Bryan has been prominent in Student Government work for the past four years. Bryan's talents have been used as an asset of the Executive Council. He was elected junior class president and senior class president. He has also served as House Council appeals judge, Circle K president, and Lieutenant Governor of Carolinas District member of Campus Coordination of the National Students Association, and the Dean's Advisory Council. An active brother of Theta Chi, he has also participated in the activities of the Varsity cheerleaders and the Marching Pirates. A cadet Major in the AFROTC, Bryan plans to attend Flight School after graduation.

ATHLETICS

Admission of East Carolina College into the Southern Conference this year illustrates the increasingly dominant role played by athletics on our campus. This advancement not only brings prestige and status, but also represents the attainment and extension of the higher ideals of athletics. The football Pirates, who represent their school well both on and off the field, are an example of the growth of these ideals. Along with the development of ideals there has been an expansion in equipment and facilities. Visiting track teams will be welcomed to a new track, and shells have arrived in preparation for the organization of a rowing team.

An interest in collegiate athletics is an immeasurable asset to the completion of a well-rounded education. Participants learn to work effectively with their peers, to be proud in defeat, to be humble in victory, and to display all the attributes of good sportsmanship. Non-participants are unified in their support of a single group toward a definite goal. Of secondary importance is the entertainment provided by attendance at athletic functions. Serving as one of the most dominating of extracurricular activities, athletics at East Carolina College is the link between student body, administration, and community.

Fighting Pirates Compile 9-1 Record for Season.

Coached by Clarence Stasavich and his staff, the 1964 football Pirates compiled their second straight 9-1 season. The only loss came at the hands of Southern Conference foe, Richmond.

There were many stars for the Bucs this year. Bill Cline unofficially led the Southern Conference in total offense with 1574 yards and was elected to the 1964 Little All-America team. Dave Alexander set a school scoring record with 96 points and led the team in rushing with 895 yards. Team captain Ted Day, Jerry Tolley, and Harold Glaettli are just three of the many defensive stalwarts who were so important to this year's success.

Highlighting the season was the invitation to play in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida, and the ultimate victory over the Redmen of the University of Massachusetts. It was the well deserved end to a hard fought season.

Coach Stasavich, Swindell, and Linker watch play from the sidelines.

ECC Scalps Indians 25-0.

Overcoming a slow start, the Pirates caught fire late in the first quarter and continued to roll over Catawba for their first win of the season. The home crowd watched as the stout Pirate defense allowed the Indians to come no closer than the 37 yard line, while the rampaging offense collected 25 points.

George Richardson got the Bucs moving, completing six of eight passes after they had stalled on their first four possessions. The first ECC score came on a one-yard plunge by Dave Alexander. Wallace Collins' extra point made it 7-0. Early in the second quarter, following a 44-yard pass from Richardson to Anderson, Alexander swept end and scored again. Late in the first half, Dave Bumgarner hauled in a 4 yard aerial in the end zone for the third tally of the half.

With substitutions used liberally in the second half, the Pirates scored once more shortly after Pete Crane recovered a fumble on the Catawba 38. Six plays later Richardson added the final six points to the Buc total.

Pirates Butt Rams 33-7.

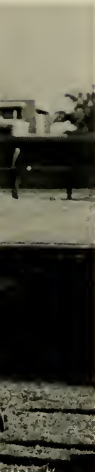

Outstanding defensive play, along with the running and passing of Dave Alexander and Bill Cline, sparked a 33-7 Pirate victory over the West Chester Rams at West Chester, Pennsylvania. Cline and Alexander claimed two tallies each and Dinky Mills added one to assure the Bucs of their second win of the season.

Returning in the second half with a 13-7 lead, the Bucs broke it open as Dinky Mills took an aerial and scampered into the end zone. Later in the game, Alexander collected two more touchdowns, both from four yards out, to end the scoring.

East Carolina Blanks Terriers 21-0.

Halting an early Wofford threat, the visiting Pirates rolled over a staunch Terrier team 21-0.

An early field goal attempt by Wofford sailed wide and from the ECC 20 Bill Cline led the team to their first score. Speedy Dinky Mills on the receiving end of a 40-yard pass and an interference penalty moved the Pirates to the Terrier 21. Blocking back Norman Swindell then pulled in a pass moving the ball to the 13. Alexander, stopped at the line of scrimmage, lateraled to Cline who carried to the 3. On the next play, Cline scored and Bumgarner added the point after.

Punting later in the half to ECC, Wofford couldn't stop the powerful running of Alexander who drove most of the way for the second Pirate touchdown. Cline contributed a two-point conversion and the half-time score was 15-0.

Six more points were added to the total in the second half with Swindell pulling down Cline's toss for the final score.

Traditional Rival Lenoir Rhyne Bows 33-14.

Traditional rival, Lenoir Rhyne, became the fourteenth straight victim of the potent Pirate attack as the Bucs posted a 33-14 margin over the Bears on their home field. LR tallied first on Campbell's 75-yard punt return.

Held scoreless in the first quarter, ECC started moving in the second period. On the second play of the quarter, a 35-yard pass was completed to Dave Bumgarner for the touchdown. Peter Kriz kicked the point after.

Fourteen more points were added in the first half as Cline scampered 44 yards for one score and Alexander went in from the 15 for another. Kriz supplied both extra points.

Second half action was fast and furious. Alexander turned in an exciting run when he scored from the 20 carrying Bear tacklers with him. An interception in the end zone by Jerry Tolley halted another LR threat and set up a 65-yard scoring run to complete the action.

Richmond Snaps Pirate Win Streak at 14.

After thirteen fine games, the Buccaneers went down at the hands of the Spiders of Richmond. Spectators numbering 13,000 turned out in cold weather to watch as a strong Pirate attempt fell short and hopes for a perfect season were ruined 22-20.

Taking advantage of a fumble on the ECC three yard line, the Spiders scored seven points during the first three minutes. The Bucs retaliated, however, when Dave Alexander picked off a Richmond pass and returned it 31 yards for a touchdown. The next three scores were all Richmond. A safety and two touchdowns accounted for 15 points and a 22-6 halftime lead.

Fighting back in the second half, the Pirates drove 56 yards for one tally and drove 39 yards in two plays for another. Alexander scored both times, but the two-point conversion efforts were unsuccessful.

Alexander Sets School Scoring Record.

Homecoming was spoiled for Furman students when the Pirates appeared in Greenville, South Carolina, and defeated the Paladins 34-13. In this game, Dave Alexander, hard charging Buc fullback, surpassed the ECC single season scoring record by collecting his 78th point.

Furman tallied first, marching 78 yards after an ECC punt. Sammy Wyche, who passed for 50 yards in the drive, threw five yards to Tim Crawford for the score. Brownie Cordell added the extra point. On the first series of downs following Furman's kickoff, Dinky Mills nabbed a pass from the 26 and took it all the way. Peter Kriz booted the point after. Regaining possession, the Pirates scored again in seven plays as Norman Swindell took a pass for the final five yards and the score.

Jerry Tolley intercepted a Paladin aerial in the second quarter and returned it to their 46. On second down, Alexander moved the ball to the two on the next play he carried again for the score.

Near the end of the first half, Furman attempted a field goal, but tackle Mitchell Cannon broke through and blocked it. From their own 41, the Pirates drove toward another touchdown. With one minute remaining on the clock, Cline scored from eight yards out.

In the second half, after the regulars scored six more points, the second and third teams took over and did an admirable job, holding the Paladins to only one score. That came as Bob Stillwell threw to Tommy Rhoads on a fake field goal from the Buc 18.

The Pirates scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns to take a 19-10 triumph from the Bulldogs of Citadel at Charleston, South Carolina.

The Bus marched 68 yards on their first drive, terminating with Jerry Tolley scoring on a 14-yard pass. Kriz's conversion gave ECC a 7-0 lead.

Midway through the second quarter the Bulldogs opened up a sustained 81-yard drive, capped by a 23-yard toss to wingback Jim Parder. The teams went to the dressing room at the half with the score tied at 7-7.

Coming back in the third quarter, Citadel collected three points on Pat Greene's field goal, following a 40-yard punt return.

ECC wrapped it up scoring twice. Starting on their 43, the Pirates went all the way with Norman Swindell receiving a 12-yarder from Cline for the tally. With Cline setting up the score on a 51-yard sprint to the Citadel 29, the Bucs again marched to pay dirt. George Richardson took over from one yard out.

In ECC Win Over Presbyterian.

Closing the season against Presbyterian, East Carolina crushed the visitors 49-8 before a homecoming crowd of 14,322.

Late in the first quarter, Bill Cline rolled around right end for six yards and the first Buc touchdown. Jerry Tolley swept right end for the two-point conversion. In the second quarter, Dave Alexander scored twice within three minutes as the Pirates started to display the powerful singlewing offense. The first tally was a 3-yard plunge up the middle and the second was an 8-yard burst over left tackle. Peter Kriz added both extra points. Completing the first half scoring, Dave Bumgarner grabbed a 33-yard pass to give the Bucs a 28-0 lead.

The lone Presbyterian score came on a 57-yard drive following a recovered fumble on their 43. Richard Reed accounted for the six points when he hauled in a 34-yard aerial from Jack Nix. The same pair combined for the two-point conversion.

ECC came back as Cline teamed with Johnny Anderson for an 18-yard touchdown toss. Kriz added the point after. Harold Glaetli then halted a Blue Hose drive when he intercepted a Nix throw and returned it 46 yards for another tally. Again Kriz booted the extra point. Wrapping up the scoring, Alexander hammered his way over from one yard out late in the fourth quarter. Kriz added his fifth extra point of the game.

Prior to the opening kickoff, captains from both teams meet at mid-field for the toss of coin.

Pirates Edge

Halting a threat by the Redmen, Jerry Tolley intercepts a pass and heads downfield.

ECC scores to close the gap, 13-12. The following two-point conversion won the game.

Redmen 14-13 in Bowl Triumph.

Refusing to fold after a frustrating first half, a stubborn East Carolina team came from behind in the second half to defeat a powerful Massachusetts eleven 14-13 in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida.

Three fumbles and a pass interception hindered the Bucs in the first half while Jerry Whelchel directed his team to a 7-0 halftime lead. The score came on a 12-yard pass to Redman end. Whelchel converted.

In the third quarter, the Redmen added to their lead as Whelchel again teamed with Palm for 61 yards and six points. This time Whelchel missed the point after.

The Pirates started moving only minutes later. Jarring blocks and hard running moved ECC to the Massachusetts 2-yard line. Dave Alexander took it in from there, but the two-point conversion was missed.

Neither team could move the ball well until the fourth period when Bill Cline connected with end Whitty Bass for 68 yards to the Redmen 23. Four plays later, Cline passed to Pete Crane for the two-pointer and the game.

The strength of the Pirate defense is shown as U-Mass. is pushed deep in its own territory.

With great pride the victorious Pirates bring back this reminder of their accomplishment.

PIRATES RETURN

1,200 cheering East Carolina enthusiasts assembled at the Greenville Airport to welcome home the triumphant Pirates. Banners, signs, and flags spotted the group. As each team member emerged from the plane, he was besieged by handshakes and well-wishes of the crowd. This was a fitting tribute to the coaches and team who had done their utmost to produce a winning season.

Named Coach of the Year.

Given the highest honor awarded by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Clarence Stasavich was named college division Coach-of-the-Year for 1964. "Stas" became head football coach at East Carolina early in 1962, and in July 1963, he was named athletic director. Winning two consecutive bowl victories, his teams have compiled a three season record of 24-6-0. He came to East Carolina from Lenoir Rhyne with a composite record of 120-36-7, including five undefeated seasons and the National Small College Championship in 1960. Other honors merited by Coach Stasavich are the NAIA Coach-of-the-Year awarded in 1959 and his election to the Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame in 1960.

Baby Buc defenders ready themselves to halt Frederick offense.

Urgent instructions are sent into the game via John Schwartz during a tense moment.

East Carolina's Freshman football team rolled to a 3-2 season under the direction of Coach Henry Vansant. The Baby Bucs lost to Chowan College and North Carolina State, while overcoming Fredrick, Newport News, and the University of Richmond.

Marked by a speedy backfield and a hard-charging line, the Pirates, racked up 93 points in five contests while holding their opponents to 54.

The Buc's offensive attack was led by elusive tailback Neil Hughes and 230 pound tackle Kevin Moran. Cited for outstanding defensive performances were several players, among whom were linebacker Johnny Swartz, guard Paul Hutchins, and corner back Austol Youmans.

Pirate's Winning

What is a cheerleader? The average spectator may see a cheerleader as the swish of a purple and gold pom-pom, or the flash of white trousers over a purple sweater as one of the boys does a cartwheel between plays, or a loud hoarse voice growing louder and hoarser with each succeeding yell. All this is true, but there is more. The cheerleading squad is a group of men and women whose job it is to instill school spirit at pep rallies, bonfires, and games. They must remain through victory or defeat, through rain and cold to urge their team to do its best no matter what the situation. They share both the pride in winning and the sorrow in losing, and they can smile when the team needs it the most.

Five Regulars Return.

With five regulars returning from last year, the Pirates have an experienced team which promises trouble for almost any opponent. Captains Billy Brogden, Bobby Kinard, Grady Williamson, and Jerry Woodside return with Larry Phillips to round out the starting five. Adequate help is offered by sophomores Danny Pasquarielle and Gerald Smith.

Coached by Wendell Carr, the Bucs face a trying schedule this year, facing teams such as High Point, Richmond, Davidson, William and Mary, and VPI. Over the Christmas holidays, ECC participated in the Lenoir Rhyne Holiday Tournament in Hickory, North Carolina. Losing to Chattanooga in the first round 83-73, the Pirates went into the consolation round against Berea College and won 89-69.

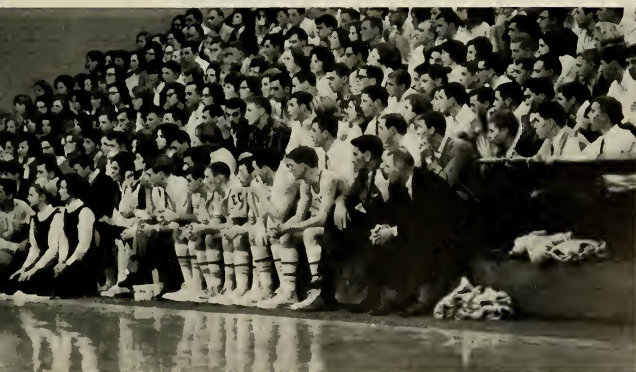

Owing to experience and better all round enthusiasm, the Bucs are expected to show quite an improvement over last year's 9-15 record.

Action in the first half produced a give-and-take battle which resulted in a 33-32 Buc lead at intermission. The lead changed hands twelve times before the half ended, forecasting a cliff-hanging second stanza.

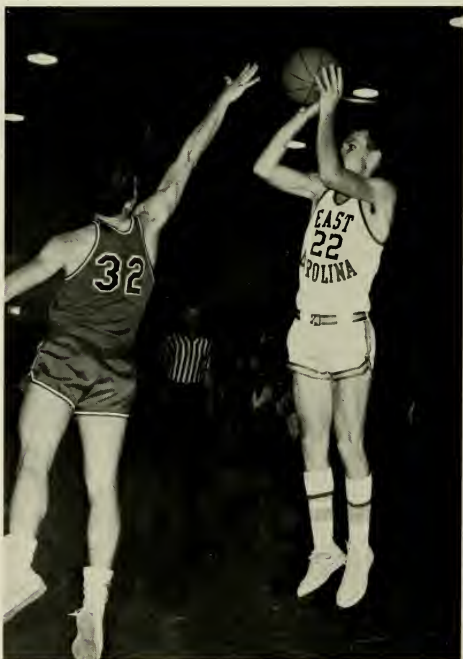

Woodside sparked the Pirate's attack in the final half, scoring their first 11 points. However, the visitors were not to be outdone, and fought with the Bucs to a 58-58 tie with nine minutes remaining in the game.

From this point, the Pirates broke loose on a 24 point surge while holding their opponents to 10.

No valid short cuts to success occur in swimming. Good swimmers must possess two important things: increased strength and/or improved mechanics and an increased expenditure of energy. The 1964 record of the swimming team proves that East Carolina swimmers have both of these important qualifications. The Pirates renew competition this season with North Carolina State College and the University of North Carolina. Buc swimmers already have Virginia Military Institute, Washington and Lee, and Old Dominion in the win column for this year. Coached by Dr. Ray Martinez (now in his tenth year of coaching at East Carolina) and assistant Coach Joel Shanabrough, the Pirate swimmers plan to surge ahead in the Southern Conference this season.

East Carolina College Swimmer

Scoring high from the 3-meter board, Les Gerber proves once again why he is considered one of America's best College divers.

Of the forty-one institutions competing at the first annual College Division Swimming and Diving Championships at Grove City, Pennsylvania, on March 19-21, 1964, East Carolina took second place in the national competition with a total score of 50 points. The Bucs ranked second only to Bucknell University which scored 83 points. East Carolina was represented by seven swimmers, the smallest team in attendance. From the first gun the Pirates knew competition would be tough. The Pirate tankmen Chuck Norwood, Joel Shanabrough, Harry Sober, Larry Hewes, Bob Federici, and Paul Donohue gained winning points.

Joel Shanabrough won a first place gold medal in the 400-yard individual medley with a time of 4:45 minutes flat. His excellent time in this event qualified him for the University Division of the N.C.A.A. at Yale University. Paul Donohue qualified seventh place in the three meter diving. This event coupled with the 400-yard freestyle put East Carolina within reach of third or possibly second place. Knowing that the second place slot could well depend on him, the Bucs nervously watched Paul execute his dives with perfection. The 400-yard relay freestyle team had to hold its fifth place position in order to keep East Carolina in second place. Sober, Federici, Shanabrough, and Hewes held the fifth slot in the relay. The finish clinched the second place trophy and ended the meet.

East Carolina's wrestling team has had six matches thus far this season, as the BUCCANEER goes to press. In the win column are Richmond Professional Institute, Pembroke College, and Duke University. The Pirates lost to Pfeiffer College, the Citadel, and the University of West Virginia.

In the Citadel match, Neil Linker sparked the Bucs to a near win in their closest match of the season. Against West Virginia, Neil Linker and Keith Douglas scored valuable points, but the Pirates again fell short.

Remaining on the schedule for Coach Gant's matmen are Saint Andrews College, Pembroke College, and Virginia Military Institute.

and Recreation.

Organized on the principles of sportsmanship, relaxation, and entertainment, the intramural program at East Carolina College offers a wide variety of activities in which all students may participate. The objectives of the program are to offer each student an opportunity to compete, as a member of a team, in almost any sport which he enjoys. Among the activities offered are touch football, basketball, volleyball, table tennis, and swimming.

From participation in such activities, a student learns such traits as cooperation, leadership, and responsibility, while he further develops his interest in a particular sport. The competing teams are organized in three categories, The fraternities and sororities compose one division. The second division is organized by dormitories, and the third is made up of independent teams, which draw members from the entire student body.

Pirate Runners

Balance of power, necessary for any degree of success, was not evident this year as the Buc track team finished with a 1-4 season record. The Pirate's lone win was over Elon College, while they lost to North Carolina State, Citadel, Old Dominion, and the University of Richmond.

The Major weakness of the club was their inability to collect points in more than two or three events. Whitty Bass, who broke two school records, paced the Bucs in capturing the 440yd. and the 880yd. events, however, the team could not muster enough points in other categories to attain a high total score.

Freshman pole vaulter John Sasser lifts off the track and arches toward the bar.

Bass set new school marks by running the 440 in 47.9 seconds and the 880 in one minute and 57 seconds. Following the regular season he went to Fresno California where he finished 7th in a field of 28 in the 880 in the NCAA national championships.

Bucs Take Championship.

Gerald Martello, with an abundant supply of freshman talent to work with, coached his netters to a 10-8 season and the National Collegiate Athletic Association District "A" Regional Championship. Ray Stallings, singles winner, teamed with Bane Shaw to take the runner-up position in the doubles contest. With four of the six starters freshmen, the Bucs won their first match, lost eight, then took the following nine matches.

Included in the Bucs win column were impressive victories against such avid opponents as North Carolina State College, William and Mary College, University of Richmond, Old Dominion College, and Atlantic Christian College. This season the Bucs will be under the able coaching of Harold Bullard, and a considerably tougher schedule is anticipated as a result of East Carolina's admission into the Southern Conference.

East Carolina Adds Another Sport.

Anticipating the formation of a rowing team, East Carolina College received two 62-foot racing shells from Brown University. Two more shells are scheduled to arrive soon from Harvard University. Composed of nine men including the coxswain, the rowing team will practice in Pamlico Sound at Washington, N.C. It is hoped that interest will be adequate to continue the building of the team and the addition of another sport to the growing list in the athletic program.

As a sport, rowing carries with it a unique tradition. Any school wishing to form a rowing team does not purchase their first shells. These are given to the school by a school which has a crew. The recipient school, in turn, passes the shells on to other schools after their team is established and they have purchased their own equipment.

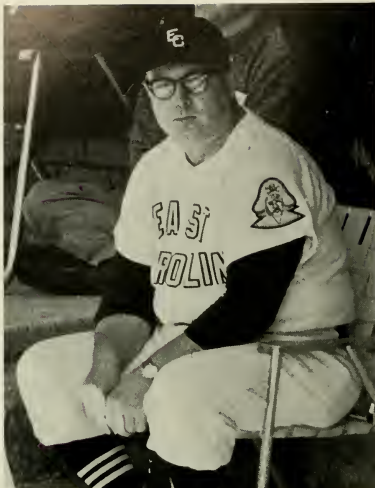

Al Hems examines a shell as he helps remove it from the truck.

Awkward looking on land, the sleek racing shell will ride high in the water.

Competing for the first time for a berth in the NCAA District 4 post-season playoffs in Gastonia, North Carolina, the East Carolina College baseball team had to contend with such teams as New York University, William and Mary, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, and Duke University. Proving themselves quite able, the Pirates rolled over opposition to the tune of 17-5 for the season and were selected as the at-large entry in the playoffs. Included in the win column were wins over all three of the Atlantic Coast Conference foes faced by the Pirates.

AFROTC Incorporates Service

In 1948 the Board of Trustees of East Carolina entered into an agreement with the Department of the Air Force of the United States to establish and maintain an Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps. As an integral academic subdivision of the college, this department has grown to four Air Force officers, three Non-commissioned officers, and over three hundred cadets. Its purpose is to select and train qualified students for careers in the United States Air Force.

The cadets are organized into a Cadet Group with four Squadrons and fourteen flights. The regular yearly schedule includes projects and social functions including a "Dining-In," a Spring Military Ball, a Marchathon for the March of Dimes, participation in parades, and numerous service projects.

Another exciting phase of training for those cadets who qualify is the Flight Instruction Program. This program provides sufficient flight and ground school training to enable the cadet to obtain a private pilot's license.

Upon completion of the AFROTC program and graduation, the cadet is commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force and subsequently called to active duty.

To insure the proper fit, uniforms must be measured carefully.

English Department Initiates

Heads are turned toward a student who poses a question during an English class.

Being initiated in the Department of English this year are two new honor programs. Dr. Howard German, in co-operation with Dr. John Kozy of the Philosophy Department, sponsored, during the fall quarter, an honors seminar for highly capable freshmen. Note books were read and discussed in the seminar.

Linguistics, medieval literature, Victorian literature, and contemporary literature are several subjects studied by students participating in the other program, the senior honors program. This program is open to all senior English majors with a 2.0 average in English work and with thirty quarter hours of English courses.

This department is headed by Dr. Meredith Posey. The 358 students are instructed by the forty members of the Department of English.

Foreign Language

Modern laboratories facilitate the study of foreign languages.

The study of a foreign language involves learning the location and customs of a country.

Speaking ability as well as writing ability is emphasized by the Foreign Language Department. To aid them in this challenge, a modern laboratory is available to all language students. To measure the students' progress, several courses require oral and laboratory tests.

Increased enrollment has required the addition of three part-time teachers to the staff of fifteen teachers headed by Mr. James Fleming. Several of the instructors teach their native languages; eight are multilingual.

Foreign languages offered are French, Spanish, and German; Russian is taught as an extension course. Degrees offered to majors are Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts.

Also helping to give the students a taste of the foreign lands they study are the travel study tours each summer; nine credit hours are given to those who enroll.

One hundred and ten majors plus twelve graduate students make up the Geography Department which offers Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, and Master of Education degrees. Athletic Director Wins

With Dr. Nephi M. Jorgenson as chairman, the Department of Health and Physical Education offers a wide choice of classes covering the various areas related to physical development. From the basic courses to the most advanced and complex, classes meet the needs of the college's varied student interests.

In addition to its classes, the department encourages and actively sponsors intramural sports of all types. The ultimate goal is to involve each student in athletic participation of some sort.

Requirements for majors include courses ranging from social dancing to the intricacies of anatomy. After earning their A.B., majors may go on to an M.A. or, if they prefer, an M.Ed. in Physical Education.

Summer workshops draw high school and college coaches and students from this and neighboring states and bring publicity and recognition to the department and college.

Modern facilities are constantly being added. The construction of a new gymnasium will add markedly to the ever-growing potential of the Health and Physical Education Department.

Concerned with all aspects of family life, the Home Economics Department is directed by Dr. Miriam Moore. East Carolina is one of the three colleges approved by the North Carolina State Department of Public Instruction for the teaching of future vocational instructors. As part of the Science Department, home economics was taught when the college opened in 1909. In 1937 it was made a department and in 1940 was given the responsibility of instructing vocational teachers.

Approximately 210 students are now majoring in home economics. Courses offered by the department include various phases of family life: family relations, nutrition, the construction and care of clothing, home furnishing and management. Majors may belong to the Home Economics Chapter of the American Home Economics Association. The honorary fraternity, Phi Omicron, is open to upperclassmen who have met the high standards of scholarship and leadership required for membership.

Department.

Rapidly changing and extensively increasing its pursuits, the Mathematics Department has added new requirements for those who wish to obtain a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Master of Arts Degree. At present this department consists of 322 majors and twenty staff members including Dr. Tuillio Pignani, director.

Departmental meetings sponsor lectures by representatives from the American Mathematical Association, the American Statistical Association, and S.I.A.M. The Mathematics Club is an organization composed of students who want to further their interest in this science.

Serving as a backdrop for the 1620 computer, three business majors find it necessary to make use of mathematics department equipment in order to prepare for their future jobs in the commercial world.

With Mr. Earl Beach as head of a staff of thirty-one, the School of Music offers courses in every phase of music. With two hundred and twenty music majors, the School of Music is one of eight in the United States offered a grant by the Ford Foundation. A seminar June 8 through July 13, 1965, for the study of contemporary wind music will be sponsored by this grant. The seminar is open to graduate and undergraduate students. The Annual Contemporary Music Festival will have the American Arts Trio as main guests this year.

Degrees offered by the School of Music include Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Music, Master of Music, and Master of Arts with a major in music. The Marching Pirates, the Concert Choir, and the Symphonic Band perform throughout the year.

Anticipates New Building.

East Carolina's School of Nursing has received accreditation by the National League of Nursing. In order to be eligible, the Nursing Department had to have graduated its first class. The application included a full description of the Nursing program and the areas of study offered. In September the department was visited by the Accreditation Committee. The Nursing Department has moved into a new office at 505 Eighth Street. Plans are being drawn for a new building for the School of Nursing. Applications for government funds have already been made.

Winter quarter the sophomore nursing students obtain clinical experience at Beaufort County Hospital. This experience is new for the department and for the college. The Nursing Department owns buses and a station wagon for transportation of its students to and from the Greenville Hospital.

Student nurses listen to lecture on the need of a proper amount of sleep. One student is really taking the topic seriously.

Dr. Clinton Prewett discusses fellowship possibilities with a staff member.

Scholarships and internships amounting to $20,000 have been made available to the Department of Psychology this year. Students majoring in clinical psychology are eligible for scholarship awards. Internships will be taken at Broughton Hospital, a state mental institution, and at Western Carolina Center for Retarded Children. Both are located in Morganton, North Carolina.

Available to psychology majors are the Bachelor of Arts degree and three Masters of Arts degrees: general-theoretical, clinical and school psychology. All psychology majors and minors are encouraged to participate in the Psychology Club. With an enrollment of 300 undergraduates and twenty-six graduates, the department is directed by Dr. Clinton Prewett assisted by fifteen instructors.

Facilitated by N.S.F. Grant.

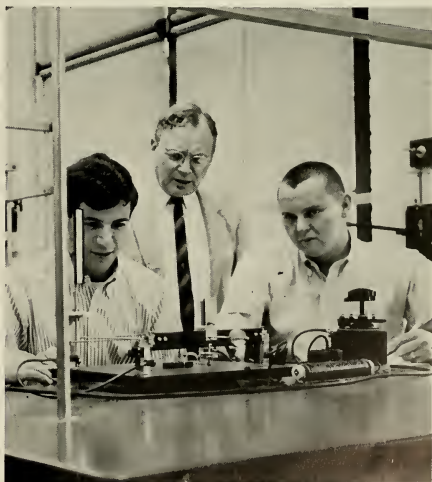

Directed by Dr. Charles W. Reynolds, the Division of Science is expanding in each of its departments. Expansion of the Physics Department has been aided by the addition of two specialists—one in theoretical physics and the other in experimental physics. The curriculum has been expanded, and a new physics building is in the planning.

The Chemistry Department, which offers a liberal arts degree and a teaching degree, will soon offer a professional degree and, when the department is large enough, a graduate degree in chemistry. This department has received a National Science Foundation grant for equipment that helps to instruct interested students in advanced courses of photography and oceanography, teaches science methods courses, and directs student teaching in science.

The Science Education Department has acquired new microscopes and a telescope. The goals of this department are to offer a degree in science for those preparing to be scientists, to provide a graduate degree in general science and science for elementary school teachers, and to build a planetarium.

The Biology Department has developed marine biology, microbiology, and radiation biology. All of the four departments have added new laboratories, equipment, instructors, and courses.

Observant students explore the physical construction and mechanism of intricate and diversified apparatus.

Political Science

Headed by a staff consisting mainly of doctorate professors, the East Carolina Political Science Department is a relatively new academic division on campus. Under the supervision of Dr. John M. Howell, this department strives to supply its students with an acute understanding of the functions and policies of governmental affairs.

Graduates of East Carolina's Political Science Department not only receive an A.B. or B.S. degree, but they also acquire a valid prerequisite for admission to an accredited School of Law. Dr. Howell and Dr. Faye Carroll are both awaiting publication of their books in the area of Political Science.

Philosophy

East Carolina's Philosophy Department offers an undergraduate major for pre-professional training in law, business, social administration, personnel work, social case work, and industrial relations. This year the expanding department applied for a Charter Chapter of Phi Sigma Tau Honor Society. If the application is approved, it will be the first charter in North Carolina. In order to apply for the Honor Society Charter, the Philosophy Department had to have a minimum of five honor students with nine hours of Philosophy and better than a "B" average. The department had more than the necessary number of students to meet the requirements. Dr. John Kozy, Jr., head of the Philosophy Department, expects the charter to be granted.

Mr. Ernest Marshall from Ohio State University has been added to the Philosophy faculty. Next year the department will add another faculty member, and advanced courses in Philosophy will be offered for the first time. The weekly Philosophy Club sponsors a spring picnic for members.

to the Future.

Sociology

Offering more graduate and undergraduate courses, the Sociology Department has been restructured for expanding and strengthening of the sociological and anthropological foundations of the college program. The number of students has increased steadily with the addition of more courses. Majors in the department have tripled during the first year of the expansion program. Dr. Melvin J. Williams, the director, is conducting a research project on the values in Adolescent Society.

The department is creating new activities for the students in the Sociology field. The newly-formed Sociology Club is for sociology majors, minors, and other interested students. The Sociology Department plans to establish a seminar for community research with academic credit given to the students participating.

This year the Drama and Speech Department has added courses in dance, broadcasting, radio, and television. The main objective of the department is to offer professional training to actors, directors, and teachers. The degrees offered are Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Fine Arts.

The Summer Theatre is produced through the department. Plans are now under way for a winter professional company. Mr. Edgar R. Loessin serves as director of the Drama and Speech Department, which has a staff of twelve.

Phenomenal success of the Summer Theater's production of My Fair Lady led to the return of the summer professionals for the Drama Department's production this fall. Carolyn Everett and Peter Bromilow were as successful and well-received the second time as they were the first.

SENIORS

And now we end our Senior year,
And terminate our school career.
Ere we leave our campus dear,
Let us review these last four years.

With pencil, pen, and notes we took;
But all we learned came not from books.
Sometimes our studies we forsook
For things with a more enjoyable look.

Some ran and played and kicked the ball,
And some for romance used the halls.
Some wrote, some sang, and found their call
In student government some did fall.

At last approached the end's decree,
And each accepted his degree.
And parted ways, his own to be
With ever-fixed memory.

By the Junior year, one thing is sure.
It's time that one is now mature.
The Junior hardens—not to yield
And works on subjects in his field.

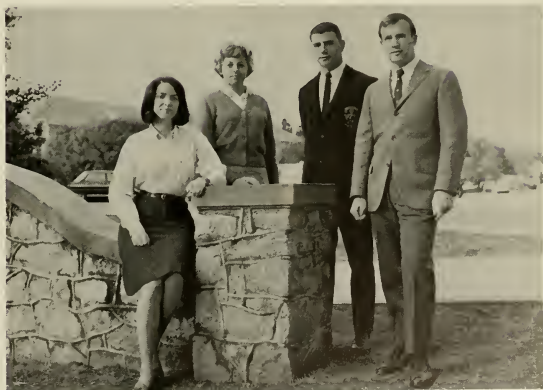

The Junior stands but one big stride
From Seniorism, full of pride.
His goals he now strives to acquire
And raise his average a little higher.

The Junior feels by this date
The time is near; he musn't be late
For near at hand is graduation
Bringing hours of worry and contemplation.

The third-year man, needless to say
Is pressured more so every day
But pressures, trials, troubles, and tears
Are all a part of the junior year.

Class Officers

Our Freshman pass through one stage more
And soon become our Sophomores.
Sophomore means a "wise old fool,"
And this is true, as a general rule.

His freshman year, now history,
He wonders what he wants to be.
Although he is a starter yet,
He exceeds Freshmen, you can bet.

Through study and implied result
He deems to become an adult.
When this plateau is finally reached
He wishes others he may teach.

By now he knows just what it takes
To make the grades and stand the quakes.
By now he knows what college is for,
For he's a full fledged Sophomore.

Class Officers

The Freshman finds, to his distaste,
That he is oddly out of place.
The first few weeks of college life
Are filled with worry, fear, and strife.
He soon discovers that it's a must
To fall in line and to adjust.
Each Freshman, however, soon discovers
That he's no different from the others.
He soon begins to make new friends,
Trying his best none to offend.
He finds functions, from the start,
Some in which he'll take a part.
And so one views the college frosh,
With far-fetched dreams soon to quash.
He sees a varied combination
Of confidence and expectation.

WWWS-AM, WWWS-FM, and WWWS-TV

To train students in broadcasting technique; to provide news, entertainment, cultural and educational listening for the student body; and to provide television service to various classes are the purposes of WWWS-AM, FM, and TV.

Under the leadership of Dr. Corinne Rickert, the organization sponsors an annual UNICEF drive consisting of a radiothon and dance. SGA election coverage is provided by WWWS-TV. This station also works with the College Union in sponsoring several dances during the year. For the outstanding work done on the UNICEF drive by the radio department, the students received national and international recognition.

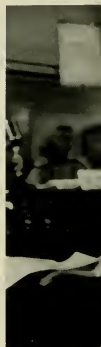

Approximately seventy-five students participate in the three departments of this organization. Any student is eligible to become a member after a period of on-the-job training by the currently all-student staff and a proficiency radio test.

Broadcasters Boost UNICEF Drive.

In an effort to promote Christmas spirit, broadcasters decorated a Christmas tree in front of the radio lounge. This tree could be seen from parts of the main campus.

Gale Lucas checks equipment as the television staff prepares to go on the air.

Broadcasting Guild

Students who have a "C" average in a prescribed curriculum and who have at least one year's experience in broadcasting qualify as members of the Broadcasting Guild. Under the supervision of Dr. Corinne Rickert, the club strives to promote superior broadcasting in radio and television. Founded April 13, 1963, this professional club assists in the UNICEF drive, special events on campus radio and closed-circuit television. The Broadcasting Guild is the co-ordinating organization of WWW-AM, FM, and TV.

Dr. Corinne Rickert, Co-ordinator of Campus Radio and Closed Circuit Television, plans the broadcasting schedule for the day.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS

Structures may be altered architecturally, yet the religious symbol of the Holy Cross remains constant. Seeking to supply this element of constancy to the students of East Carolina while in their college homes, the religious groups on campus represent the major denominations. These organizations promote spiritual development, provide a place for recreation, and offer a bond of fellowship to each member. Centering ideals around the development of responsible, intelligent individuals, these groups afford the opportunity for students to broaden their spiritual horizons.

Chimes from the bell tower may be heard on the main campus.

Reminding students of their responsibility to God and His church is the primary goal of the Baptist Student Union. Sixty active members hold daily prayer and sponsor the traditional vespers on Wednesday evenings. Working closely with the Inter-Religious Council and local churches, the B.S.U. also publishes "THE KEY," a quarterly publication dealing with the organization and activities of the Union. The group worships and supports the State B.S.U. summer missions program. Expressed interest and willingness to work toward the B.S.U. goals are the only criteria for membership.

Canterbury Enjoys Holiday Feast.

Canterbury Club is the mission of the Episcopal Church to the academic community at all levels. Under the guidance of The Rev. John W. Drake, Jr., and Dr. James Poindexter, the club provides worship, service, and fellowship in the church and on campus. Prior to the Christmas holidays, the Canterbury Club was entertained at a holiday feast in the Rectory. Members of the club plan a spring weekend at Camp Leach for recreation, study, and worship. As a community service, Canterbury students work at St. Andrews Mission. Because the club has no officers, various duties are performed on a voluntary basis.

Rev. John Drake administers the weekly Holy Communion to the students.

Holy Communion is followed by a supper and a program each Wednesday evening.

Group discussions promote better understanding among students.

Lutherans Teach Sunday School.

Lutheran Student's Association strives to provide group fellowship for the Lutheran and other interested students. Mrs. Mildred Derrick and Miss Pat Benson lead the religious group in their activities. Plans for the year include singing in the church choir, teaching in Sunday school, and participating in annual retreats to Pamlico Sound. The Lutheran students organized the Lutheran Church in Greenville and dedicated it in 1963. Each Sunday evening the students meet for an inspirational program.

Robert L. Dasher, Pastor; Becky Eller, Food Chairman; Julia Knapp, Treasurer; Brenda Klutz, President; Mrs. Mildred Derrick, Advisor.

Presbyterians Emphasize Questioning and Sharing

Presbyterian students meet action after challenging the Baptist students to a game of volleyball.

To provide a setting and atmosphere for studying, questioning, doubting, expressing, and sharing the Christian faith is the purpose of the Westminster Fellowship. Under the guidance of the Reverend Bronson Matney, Jr., the group meets weekly for supper and a program. Projects for the year include supplying teachers for North Greenville Sunday School, visiting migrant worker's camp, and attending national and regional conferences. Plans are being made for a World Mission Project. Student groups discuss moral, political, and social issues. The group strives for a student-centered program.

Seated: Benny Kirkland, First Vice-Moderator; Rev. Bronson Matney, Robert Baker, Treasurer. Absent: Don Buie, Moderator; Ginny Martin, Second Vice-Moderator; Judy Bryan, Secretary.

Wesley Foundation Meets Weekly for Supper.

Representing the Methodist Church on campus in conjunction with the residential churches of the same faith through a program of Christian education with the student, faculty, and staff of the college serves as the goal of the Wesley Foundation. Each Wednesday evening, eighty-five members meet for supper and interesting forum discussions at the Methodist Center. Wesley Foundation is open to all interested students and faculty members regardless of their denominational ties.

Seated: John Coon, President. Standing: Berkeley Ashby, Second Vice-President; Paulette Key, Religious Chairman; Emmett Jones, First Vice-President; Jennifer West, Secretary; Henry Townsend, Treasurer.

Newman Club Promotes Interest in Catholic Church.

Open to all students on campus, the Newman Club strives to promote interest in and understanding of the Catholic Church. Each Thursday evening members of the club meet for various discussions on such topics as marriage and changes in the church. The students enjoyed a festive Thanksgiving party. Students plan to participate in the choir at St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Seated: Virginia Gottschalk, Vice-President. Standing: Shirley Hedman, Secretary. Absent: Neil Dorsey, President.

Preparing a meal for the club members is usually harder than it looks.

Students meet to express their ideas on current topics.

King Youth Enjoys Homecoming Banquet.

To promote Christian fellowship among its members and to help provide a more Christian attitude among all the students are the purposes of the King Youth Fellowship. The fellowship is affiliated with the Pentecostal Holiness Church. Under the guidance of Dr. James Butler, the forty members meet weekly for a program and discussion. Special activities for the year include an annual Homecoming Banquet, distribution of religious tracts to students, programs in the Pentecostal Holiness Church, and an annual spring trip.

Seated: Don Lee, President; Bobby Smith, Chaplain. Standing: Gay Williams, Secretary-Treasurer; Roger Boles, Board Member; Winston Underwood, Vice-President.

Time spent outside of class is not all concerned with unacademic matters. Many clubs such as the Industrial Arts Club are directly related to a student's major field. These groups of interested students can meet on their own time to discuss matters of importance to them without the formal influence of class. Other organizations stress service, for example, the Circle K Club. The Aquanympths work toward aquatic perfection and give annual performances.

Most of the groups sponsor goodwill projects for children, especially at Christmas. Scholarships are often given to outstanding students in the particular field associated with the group. The student looking for friends with like interests can find a club to fill his needs.

Management Society Promotes Business Tactics.

Society for Advancement of Management, founded on East Carolina campus in 1959, boasts 190 clubs in the United States. Mr. William Hart and Dr. Donald Locke counsel SAM. Eligible members must be working toward a degree and have a sincere interest in the art and science of business management. Among the awards and scholarships given by SAM are the Performance Awards, Hamilton Watch Award, and Presidential Merit Awards. The SAM Newsletter and the Advanced Management Journal are student publications of the East Carolina SAM club. Active not only in this major field of business, SAM members participate in the annual alumni reception and help with festivities for the Homecoming Queen.

ACE Aids Underprivileged Child.

Members in the Association for Childhood Education work actively to promote desirable conditions, programs, and practices for the well-being of children. Dr. Mary Lois Staton leads the East Carolina chapter. The 180 members qualify for membership by their interest in the education and welfare of underprivileged children between the ages of two and twelve.

The sale of Mum corsages for Homecoming, a Christmas project for a needy child, the convention in New York, and a visit to ACE International Headquarters in Washington, D.C., were among the scheduled events for this progressive organization. Two members were given assistantships from the national organization to work at the ACE International Headquarters.

Industrial Arts Club Wins With Float.

Industrial Arts Club float captures third place award in Homecoming festivities.

Any student with a minor or major in industrial arts is qualified to become a member of the Industrial Arts Club. Under the leadership of Mr. H. P. Olsen and Mr. W. R. Hoots, the club strives to foster professionalism in industrial arts and to foster high ideals and appreciations in the dignity of work. This professional club participates in homecoming, departmental activities, and in state and national conventions. This year the Industrial Arts Club float won third place in the Homecoming Parade.

Circle K Builds Character and Leadership.

Members and their dates get acquainted with the children from needy families at a club-sponsored party given for the children.

Developing leadership for tomorrow while creating a better college community today is the goal of Circle K. Under the guidance of Dr. John O. Reynolds, the Circle K Club, which came to East Carolina College in 1948, donates to the Blood Bank, aids needy children, and provides ushers for S.G.A. presentations. To become a member of this honorary organization, a student must possess a C average and display outstanding leadership and service capabilities. This club gives an annual scholarship to an outstanding student.

GREEKS

Whether social, honorary, or service, the fraternal atmosphere builds scholarship and civic duty among student members. There are presently nine fraternities, eight sororities, one colony and seventeen honorary and service organizations on campus. Annual projects of community service include Christmas parties for needy children and scholarships to deserving students. The assets derived from Greek Orders are many: learning to get along with others in the closeness of a house, realizing the advantage of numbers in getting good entertainment, and building life long friendships. Each organization contributes by its activities in such fields as the Student Tutoring Society and collecting to aid a number of philanthropic projects.

Brotherhood, character, leadership, and scholarship are ideals of the brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The North Carolina Kappa chapter has been awarded the East Carolina Scholarship Cup for having the highest scholastic average among the fraternities on campus. Founded nationally in 1901 at Richmond College, the Sig-Eps came to East Carolina about sixty years later. Their colors are purple and red. The pin worn by all initiates is the heart with skull and cross bones affixed.

Alpha Delta Pi, the oldest secret society for women, has as its open motto, "We live for each other." This motto is exemplified by the clasped hands of friendship on the diamond-shaped badge worn by all initiates.

The Delta Omicron chapter, founded in 1960, helps with the annual Easter Seal Campaign. Last fall the sisters conducted a door-to-door campaign to raise funds for the summer theater. Another project of this chapter is the collection of clothing for the O'Berry School in Goldsboro.

Friendship serves as a useful bond for sisters of Zeta Psi chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi. Founded in 1897, the sorority welcomed the addition of Zeta Psi chapter in 1960. Sisters take part in community service through providing periodical parties for the children of the Salvation Army. This year their campus activities were highlighted by copping first place honors in the sorority division of the Homecoming float entries and sharing first place honors in their division of the All-Sing.

DELTA ALPHA

Developing the highest type of womanhood as exemplified by character, conduct, and culture serves as the goal for which Alpha Phi has been striving since it was founded in 1872. This purpose served as a basis for the founding of Delta Alpha Chapter in 1960. The "Phis" assist with the annual Heart Fund Drive through their work on Cardiac Day. On campus the sisters have been awarded many trophies in intramural sports.

Wins Sorority Field Day.

Chi Omega social sorority has carried, since its beginning in 1895, its ideals of friendship and scholarship to 137 campuses throughout the land. The sorority insignia is the owl, which pervades the publication, "Hoot-Hoot," and periodic get-togethers of the Rho Zeta chapter, "Owl Hoots."

Among recent honors are Queen of the 1965 Buccaneer and the first runner-up, Inter-Fraternity Council Queen, and Kappa Alpha Rose. The Chi O's took first place in Lambda Chi Alpha's sorority field day, and it is still being debated whether or not the Kappa Alphas were being gentlemen when the Chi O's defeated them in softball.

GAMMA SIGMA

With colors of green and white, Kappa Delta sorority came to East Carolina in 1960 as the Gamma Sigma chapter. The purpose of the sorority, "To strive for that which is honorable, beautiful, and highest," is exemplified in the attainment of the highest scholastic average among sororities for eleven of the last thirteen quarters. The KD's give an annual outstanding senior woman award, as well as an orthopedic award which is a donation for research. Their local philanthropy is assistance to the Cripple Children's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia.

The Sigmas established an organization for a perpetual bond of friendship and the development of womanly character. The members of the Gamma Beta chapter are women of habit. For the last three years a sister has been "Miss Greenville;" in the last six years the sorority has taken top honors in the Alpha Xi Delta All-Sing five times. Of interest to North Carolina residents is that the Children's Room and Isolation Wing of Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill were provided by the approximately sixty chapters of Tri-Sigma.

APO brothers enjoy their recently completed chapter room.

Kappa Upsilon chapter of Alpha Phi Omega was chartered on the East Carolina campus in January, 1953. National APO was founded as a service fraternity in 1925 to assemble college men in the fellowship of the scout oath and law, to develop friendship, and to promote service to humanity.

An exemplification of these purposes is the participation of the local brothers in the Christmas Seal Drive. Brothers also sponsor the annual White Ball, the proceeds of which are donated to the March of Dimes. The brothers serve as judges for the scout camporees in the surrounding area.

To explore the various fields of education is the goal of Tau Sigma. Alpha chapter of Tau Sigma honorary fraternity, the only chapter of the fraternity in the nation, was founded on the East Carolina campus in 1955. Students who are candidates for the bachelor of science degree and who have a genuine interest in education are eligible for membership. This year Tau Sigma has placed a major emphasis on re-writing its constitution.

Fine Arts

East Carolina College has always been proud of its fine arts program. This year two newcomers, Summer Theatre and Poetry Forum, have provided better opportunities for our students to participate and become more fully acquainted with the field of fine arts.

Wide acclaim has been attributed to the various outstanding performances of the choral groups, the orchestras, and bands. Ranked among the top in our state, the college's school of music adds merit to numerous activities and productions of the student body. With these added attractions to supplement its fine arts program, East Carolina grows culturally as well as scholastically and more ably pursues the higher ideals of beneficial entertainment.

The Advent of the Summer Theater Enriches E.C.'s Fine Arts Program.

East Carolinians pay tribute to the Summer Theater as it is represented in the Greenville parade.

Through the concentrated efforts of Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, President of the college; Edgar R. Loessin, Playhouse director; John Sneed, technical director; Gene Strasser, director of music for the Playhouse productions; and the citizens of the Greenville community, the Summer Theater has become a reality at East Carolina. One of three in Eastern North Carolina, the Theater became a tremendous success last summer offering six large productions. The goal for its continuance in the summer of 1965 has been reached, and the program of musicals is under way for another season.

The quality of the musicals has been superb in every aspect. Experienced performers from all over the country plus the finest of East Carolinian talent have been combined to make the Theater a dream fulfilled. At last the long process of planning has rendered culture to East Carolina as well as the entire East Coast.

Douglas Ray, East Carolina faculty member, plays lead role in the Theater's production, "The Merry Widow."

"Anything Goes" featured Sally Jane Heit, a night club singer and her angels.

Henry Higgins (Peter Bromilow) in a state of solitude lets his admiration for Eliza (Carolynn Everett) show as he seeks her at his mother's home. Eliza sings "Without You."

Adapted from George Bernard Shaw's play and Gabriel Pascal's motion picture, "Pygmalion" "My Fair Lady" premiered at East Carolina's McGinnis Auditorium October 17. Starring professionals Carolynn Everett (Eliza) and Peter Bromilow (Higgins) from the Summer Theatre, the production set the stage for the most successful season ever experienced by the Playhouse.

Working with the drama department in its presentation, a 26-piece orchestra under the direction of Gene Strassler entertained the capacity crowds as they patronized the five-night run. British grandeur and majesty prevailed through each of the 18 scenes as Eliza elevates herself from a lowly street girl to the main attraction at the Embassy Ballroom and the first lady in Higgins' heart.

Broadwa

As the 1964-65 season opened at the Playhouse, it began its 26th year here at East Carolina. Under the leadership of Edgar Loessin, director, and John Sneden, technical director, the year began most successfully with "My Fair Lady." Held in such wide acclaim from its introduction at the Summer Theatre, the play was presented again and ranked second to none ever produced on this campus.

Mrs. Pearce (Karen Meussner), maids (Kay Lipe, Lucy McIntyre, Jenny Shipp) and Pickering (Graham Pollock) gaze in admiration as Eliza and Higgins depart for the Ballroom of the Embassy.

Eliza's father (Bernard Beloff) is exalted in the market. There's a wedding about to take place, and they must get him to the church on time.

Musical Captivates Audience.

"Eliza, where the devil are my shoes?"

Higgins (Peter Bromilow) questions Eliza and asks why she is selling flowers like a tramp.

Beebee (Brenda Ginn) is interviewed for a job by an agent (Jim Hamilton.)

Beebee (Brenda Ginn) falls in love with Ed (Bob Gooden), and they try to plan her career.

Beebee Fenstermaker Draw

Beebee (Brenda Ginn) expresses her desire to become an artist as Nettie Jo (Ross Ann Morris) poses. Beebee is constantly changing careers throughout the play.

Beebee's mother (Martha Bradner), her aunts, Virginia (Lucille Dew) and Betty (Jenny Nielson) wonder how she is doing.

Capacity Crowds.

The presentation of William Snyder's "The Days and Nights of Beebee Fenstermaker" marks the season's second outstanding performance, December 9-12. Beebee Fenstermaker's apartment in a large city provides the typical setting for a career girl. Offering a most unique feature was the double-level set enabling Beebee's relatives back home to be isolated thinking about and missing her. Simultaneously, Beebee is shown busily pursuing her career. Action taking place over a period of years, the audience witnesses many changes in a young girl's life.

Enabling the production to be a tremendous success were George Schreiber, in charge of lighting, Edgar Loessin, director, and John Sneden, set director. With each progressing scene, more acclaim was attributed to the Playhouse's fine performance.

Bob Smith (Randy Cochran), a young runaway is taken in by Beebee (Brenda Ginn.)

Comedy Features Playhouse'

Angelique (Rose Ann Morris) and her chosen suitor commence to sing for her father (John Sneden) in the presence of his friend (Alan Holcombe) and his son (Ron Smith).

Argan's deceitful wife (Della Basnight) expresses her love for him while he is yet alive.

Written in the 17th century by Moliere, the French playwright, "The Imaginary Invalid" premiered May 12, 1964, as the last production of the season. Directed by Douglas Ray, the play is considered by many to be one of the best comedies ever written, and the most hilarious ever presented by the drama department.

John Sneden, technical director of the Playhouse, played the lead role of Argan, the invalid. Karen Muessner, who has appeared in several other productions, played the part of the provocative French maid. A satirical production on the medical profession in general, the play concerns a hypochondriac and his imaginary illnesses.

Technical Director.

Argan's apothecary (Bernard Beloff) declares there is an enema in store for Argan (John Sneden.)

Argan's servant (Karen Meussner), disguised as a doctor, listens intently with her stethoscope and declares that he is definitely in bad condition.

In the grand finale, the cast hauls the imaginary invalid.

Commissioned by the North Carolina Charter Tercentenary Commission, Carlisle Floyd's opera, "Sojourner and Mollie Sinclair" was first staged in Raleigh as part of the Tercentenary celebration starring Broadway opera stars, Patricia Neway and Norman Tregle. Repeated on campus by the East Carolina Playhouse and School of Music, the opera received standing ovation from its two-night audience.

The plot portrayed a mid-18th century Scottish family whose loyalties were divided between the new home in the southeastern flatlands of North Carolina and the Highlands of Scotland.

McDougal (Jerald Teachy) tries to explain to Molly Sinclair (Jane Murry) why he is still loyal to the crown.

Molly Sinclair (Jane Murry) has convinced Dougal that he is no longer a subject of the crown and can no longer have his heart in two places at the same time.

The Poetry Forum Makes

The Poetry Forum originated in 1963 through the combined efforts and interests of Sanford L. Peele, B. Tolson Willis, and Pat R. Willis. "The young creative writer is often of the opinion that he is somewhat alone in his endeavor; thus, the Forum gives him a place and an opportunity to add his views on contemporary literary literature as well as his own work."—Pat R. Willis

Membership is based upon the sincere interest in the development of modern poetry. In addition to its active members here on campus, the group has many corresponding members from various parts of the country. These outsiders submit their poetry to be criticized at the meetings of the Forum.

Sanford L. Peele (Director) expresses his ideas on student's work.

B. Tolson Willis (Director) offers advice to interested students.

Pat. R. Willis (Director) displays her intent interest in helping those who need advice.

s Debut on Campus.

Organized with the intention that an informal atmosphere might prevail, the forum offers a place for students and outsiders to display their interest in writing poetry and prose. The Forum also strives to help the creative public school students and their teachers upon request.

Several members of the Forum have had their poetry published in literary magazines, and in November of 1963, the Forum published its first book of poems, "Local Habitation." East Carolina welcomes the addition of The Poetry Forum to its fine arts program and is proud of the fine cultural benefits it offers to students as well as those interested persons in surrounding areas.

Guest poet, Walter Blackstock, criticizes submitted poetry.

Active members of the Forum: Mr. Vernon Ward, Robert Mann, Bette Venable, Sarah Forsyth, Charlotte McMichael, Deanna Shields, Pat Scott, and Richard Orr.

The Forum allows interested students a place to express their opinions.

An informal atmosphere prevails as active members frequently enjoy guest poets.

Marching Pirates Travel to Tangerine

The 1964-65 Marching Pirates led by Marc Duggins hail East Carolina during half time.

1964-65 Marching Pirates and majorettes share with East Carolina's football team "Meet the New E.C.C." theme. They not only merited their way into the Southern conference but were acclaimed number one among the nation's small colleges after their triumph over the University of Massachusetts at Florida's Tangerine Bowl.

under the direction of George W. Knight, Jr., patronized Lady Bird as she made her appearance with President Johnson in Raleigh prior to the 1964 election. Creating atmosphere wherever they go, the Marching Pirates and majorettes are not limited to half-time performances but take active part in parades where they receive high acclaim.

Using the 1964 Homecoming theme, "Meet the New E.C.C.," the Marching Pirates go into a train formation taking the alumni on a "Sentimental Journey."

Varsity Band

Experienced and skilled musicians under the leadership of Mr. George Knight perform semiannually at winter and spring concerts. The sixty-member band has brought wide acclaim to the School of Music because of outstanding performances. Any student who has had three years of instrumental music in high school is eligible for membership.

Directed by Mr. Herbert Carter, the group's agenda includes outdoor concerts in the spring, regular appearances of campus, and annual tours. These seventy-five selected musicians frequently tape recordings for radio and television. In addition to other performances, the group plays for the commencement exercises.

Symphonic Band

Brass Choir

Presenting its annual concert in November with Mr. James Parnell as conductor, the Brass Choir gave selections including the Overture to "The Mikado" by Sullivan, "Sharagan" and "Fugue" by Hovaness, and an excerpt from "The Trojans in Carthage."

Symphony Orchestra

The main objective of this group is its one concert per quarter. In addition to regular concerts, the orchestra assists the opera workshop and the campus musicals. Sixty skilled musicians comprise this group.

Known as the group that conducts frequent tours, the Choir's agenda has included concerts in Henderson, Reidsville, Rockingham, Hamlet, Washington, and Charlotte. They also represent the college at North Carolina Culture Week in Raleigh. Presenting the finest in choral literature, the group also performs at the annual Christmas Assembly, a home concert in March, and the annual Contemporary Music Festival. Outstanding in its musical ability, the choir is under the direction of Mr. Charles Stevens.

Concert Choir

Ten selected singers represent this group in its annual Christmas recital and spring concert. Assisted by an accompanist and directed by Dr. Dan Vornholt, the singers include madrigals and music from other periods in the repertoire.

College Singers

Chapel Choir

Approximately forty-five singers compose this group under the direction of Dr. Carl Hjortsvang. Appearing frequently on campus and out of town, they sing mostly sacred songs. They can be heard weekly as they perform for the chapel services held in the Y-Hut.

Women's Chorus

Under the direction of Mrs. Jarrett, the Women's Chorus offers an opportunity for musical understanding among East Carolina's students. The group is composed of one hundred thirty-four non-music majors.

Membership to this group is attained by audition. The forty members under the direction of Beatrice Chaunsey specialize in light music including art, folk, and sacred numbers. Among its varied performances are an annual concert with the Men's Glee Club and the Christmas Assembly.

Another performance means the excitement of another trip

Women's Glee Club

Composed of male students representing various majors, this group, directed by Mr. Charles Stevens, strives to maintain a high level of choral performance, yet at the same time provide choral experience for the non-professional music student. Presentations include a joint concert with Saint Mary's College Choir in Raleigh and a part in the half-time show during Homecoming football game.

"Until machines can think creatively, well-educated and motivated people will continue to head the list as the Air Force's most critical need."—General Curtiss E. LeMay.

To educate and motivate is essentially the mission of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps. The 600th AFROTC detachment trains young men in Air Force concepts, doctrine, and employment. Cadets learn to think critically and creatively and develop leadership skills by participating in Leadership Laboratory. Qualified Senior cadets receive 36½ hours of flight instruction in light aircraft and 35 hours of ground school. Successful completion qualifies the cadet for a private pilot license and determines a cadet's interest in and adaptability for future flight training in the Air Force's flying schools. Ten East Carolina senior cadets participate in this flight instructional program.

Arnold Air Society, Drill Team, and Color Guard provide extra-curricular activities for cadets in the corps. The Military Ball and the Dining In are social highlights of the year. Picnics and parties also provide an informal atmosphere enjoyed by all cadets.

The corps performs civic duties throughout the year by helping the police department control traffic during parades and football games. Members of the corps also helped the Arnold Air Society and Drill Team reach their goal for the March of Dimes. The climax of all this training is the commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force that the cadet receives upon graduation from ECC.

The Group Staff, composed of senior cadets are responsible for planning and co-ordinating the activities of the Corps. The training and experience they receive prepare them for future positions in the Air Force.

The Drill Team, commanded by Cadet 1st Lt. William N. Manning, participated in the Seventh Annual Marchathon. They also marched in numerous parades and in the State Competition.

Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight . . .

Aims of the Arnold Air Society are to advance air and space citizenship; to support air power in its role in national security; to further the purpose, mission, tradition, and concept of the United States Air Force; to create a closer more efficient relationship, within AFROTC and to aid in the development of effective Air Force Officers. To qualify for membership, a student must be an outstanding cadet interested in promoting the purpose of the organization.

The Arnold Air men support national blood drives, visit orphan groups, and sponsor the AFROTC honorary Drill Team. Sponsoring the March of Dimes "Marathon" in January, the boys spent less time marching; however, collected more than in previous years. While the Drill Team marched eight and a half hours, the collections totaled $1400. The ten society pledges added another $200 by canvassing the campus. Two more drilling sessions in Ayden and Farmville boosted the sum over $2000 for the crippled children's fund.

Commanders from both Arnold Air and Angel Flight confer on new quarters in Austin and the outlook of rush.

Plates for spaghetti supper are prepared by the "Angels".

Goals of Angel Flight are to maintain high morals within the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps by serving as official hostesses; to further recognition of AFROTC; and to acquaint members with the Air Force, the AFROTC, the Air Age, and Air Education.

Under the leadership of Lieutenant Colonel Elbert Kidd, The "Angels" participate in the March of Dimes Marchathon, aid a needy family, assist in first floor pediatrics at Pitt Memorial Hospital, and also sponsor the Military Ball. Any woman student with a "C" average who successfully completes a six week pledge period may become a member of this service organization.

Rush is a very special time for this society.

Some students try strange strokes during their swimming proficiency tests.

I know it looks small, Dear, but big diamonds cost a lot.

East Carolina students are accustomed to the constant movement of construction as new buildings rise toward completion. They see specialists contributing to the major task. Moving in much the same order, the production of a yearbook requires the services of specialists in the fields of photography and publishing. These needs were most ably filled by two men who are quite outstanding in their fields: Mr. A. F. Smith and Mr. Lee H. Blackwell respectively. Spending long hours preparing the building blocks for the yearbook, Mr. Joe Brannon was the craftsman who provided the commercial photographs. With the elements contributed by these professionals, the staff labored to mold words and pictures into this finished product.

Dear Miss Garner,

Has this been a year? And boy what year! I don't know what I would have done if you didn't love to play cards as much as I do. It's really been fun in the down.
But I think we really accomplished quite a feat to complete one whole year of college!
Have fun and be good - be seeing you some next year -
I hope!

Love,

Fanny

(We'll need to have a Cotten
Hall, first floor,
South Wing, Keaton)

Ray Day.

It has been a long nine months and it is finally coming to an end. You have been a great roommate for six months. I must say, my dear, that I hope we get to see each other next year. I doubt that I will see you this summer.

I hope you and "Beaver" have some fun together while he is home. Be good and do not do anything I would not do.

The best of luck through all your years here. Wish you and "Beaver" lots of love!
It certainly has been fun!

Kay - Kay,

I must say that you are a very nice person
I have been met & I have been met for me & out that is a very nice person.

I'll never forget you & your me your friend.
get someone who is a very nice person is a really good person.

I don't honestly think I can it through a day this year without something from you.

I'm looking forward to coming this summer.

Best luck to one of the sweetest girls anyone could possibly have the pleasure of knowing.

Always,
Love,

Kay,

Tomorrow afternoon will end exams and will end
the close tie developed among us girls on south wing first floor Cottens. Kay, I have really enjoyed knowing you this year. I hope your future will be as bright and shining as you truly deserve.
Kay, I hope your dreams,
hopes, and plans for the future will all develop as you wish.

Best wishes always Patay

Don't I
us even to be out of year. have to make a little bit
like a little bit and I
all see you me (With the same, I hope
